President Cracks Whip In Pushing 'Must' Bills

Prods Congress For Gas Tax, Bond Interest Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Cracking the whip, President Eisenhower told Congress Tuesday it is inviting inflation and a higher cost of living by refusing to permit higher interest rates on federal bonds.

On the eve of his departure for Europe, the President sent two special messages to the Democratic-controlled Congress.

In one, he demanded approval of his proposal to eliminate the 4¼ per cent interest ceiling on long term government bonds, saying "no issue of greater importance has come before this session of Congress."

If the legislation is not enacted, the President told the House and Senate, "those in Congress who are unwilling to pass it must assume full responsibility for the possibly serious consequences."

In a companion message, Eisenhower applied new pressure for a boost in the federal gasoline tax to keep the giant highway building on an even financial keel, and to replenish the government's authority to insure home loans.

"Must" Legislation Listed

His direct approach came a few hours after he told his news conference these were among bills that "clearly demand attention before the Congress closes its doors."

Others in this group Eisenhower listed as:

"An effective labor reform bill, a civil rights program such as I urged upon the Congress, (and) adequate appropriations to carry forward the imperatively needed mutual security (foreign aid) program."

In taking the fight to Capitol Hill, Eisenhower hit particuarly hard on the interest rate issue. He called "a grave disappointment to me" the action of the House Ways and Means Committee in shelving his proposal for this session.

Competition Is Factor

The administration wants the power to go above the 41-year-old ceiling of 4¼ per cent in floating bond issues for five years or more. In the current market, the Treasury contends, it is impossible for government bonds to compete with other securities yielding more interest to investors.

At the same time, the Treasury wants to boost the interest rate on government savings bonds from 3¼ per cent to 3¾ per cent. Sales of these bonds have been slumping, also because better interest rates for investors are available elsewhere.

In his message on the gasoline tax, the President called "a step in the right direction" the recent action of the House Ways and Means Committee in approving an increase from 3 to 4 cents a gallon in the motor fuel levy for 22 months.

The President had sought a 1½-cent-a-gallon increase for five years.

Motherwell Jailed

A nationwide manhunt for Larry Lord Motherwell ended yesterday with him behind prison bars on a charge that he murdered Mrs. Pearl Ida Putney, 72, wealthy widow of Washington, D. C. Carrying about $60,000 in cash, she left Washington with Motherwell about a year ago on a trip she called "a last fling." Her skeleton was found in Sierra County, Calif., Aug. 16. Motherwell was arrested in Atlanta, Ga., by FBI agents. (Story at bottom of page) (AP Photofax)

House Group Shuns Rayburn's Highway Financing Proposal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee Tuesday slapped down a compromise pushed by House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) aimed at ending the deadlock over financing the money-short interstate highway program.

The committee, by a 16-9 vote, reaffirmed its previous approval of 22-month cent-a-gallon increase in the three-cent federal gasoline tax. Rayburn's compromise to limit the penny increase to one year was beaten 13-12.

The committee, on a take-it-or-leave-it basis, also directed its chairman, Rep. Wilbur D. Mills (D-Ark) to take the legislation directly to the House floor without referring it to the House Public Works Committee, as would be normal.

The two committees have been at loggerheads over how to keep construction of the 41,000-mile interstate network from coming to a standstill for lack of funds.

The Public Works group decides how federal highway money shall be apportioned to the states but the Ways and Means group provides the money. Their actions must mesh, since one can apportion only as much as the other provides.

Rayburn stepped in Monday, putting his leadership prestige on the line.

Foiled in similar recent efforts to settle interparty differences in the civil rights and labor legislation fields, he persuaded Democrats to go along with his one-year compromise and the Public Works Committee accepted it, although reluctantly.

Then Rayburn insisted that the Ways and Means Committee take it up.

After his new setback, Rayburn's only comment was a grim: "That's more trouble."

The highway fund is in the red because of a construction speedup voted last year—taking the program off the pay-as-you-go basis—and a simmering House revolt against voting higher gasoline taxes just before an election year.

Barnett Leads Gartin In Miss. Runoff Race

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Ross Barnett, a tall, 60-year-old admirer of Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus, took a strong early lead Tuesday night as returns poured in from Mississippi's second Democratic primary runoff for governor.

Barnett, making his third straight try for the Mississippi governor's chair, outdistanced Lt. Gov. Carroll Gartin in the early voting. Both men are members of the Segregationist Citizens councils and both pledged to close schools rather than see them integrated.

With 634 of the state's 1,828 precincts reported, Barnett had 55,064 votes to 42,757 for Gartin, who was Gov. J. P. Coleman's choice as his successor. Barnett also was leading in 55 of the states' 82 counties.

Motherwell Captured; Denies Slaying Widow

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Larry Lord Motherwell, charged with murdering an elderly, wealthy widow during a cross-country junket, went to jail Tuesday denying he killed the Washington, D.C., woman. He said he didn't even know she was dead.

Arrested just before boarding a plane for Cleveland, Ohio, Motherwell, 43, first tried to convince FBI agents they had the wrong man. He had been living in Atlanta several weeks under the name Craig DuBar Foster.

About eight hours after his arrest, he appeared before U.S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden. His hearing was interrupted and then postponed after Washington attorneys hired by Motherwell's wife telephoned and requested a delay.

Before the postponement he acknowledged he is Motherwell. He is under $50,000 bond.

Motherwell is charged with murdering Pearl Ida Putney, 72, widow of Albert H. Putney, onetime State Department official and university professor.

She had been missing a year and a day. Parts of her skeleton were found in Sierra County, Calif., Aug. 16. The FBI said the widow and Motherwell, neighbors in Washington, left there together for what Mrs. Putney called "a last fling." She sold some property just before leaving.

Mrs. Putney reportedly was carrying about $60,000 in cash and securities when last seen leaving a motel with Motherwell in Marysville, Calif. Marysville is about 60 miles southeast of the lonely wooded area where Mrs. Putney's bones were discovered.

Talking briefly with newsmen from his detention cell, the natitly attired Motherwell said:

"It came as quite a surprise to me to be arrested. Since last Jan-

Plane Wreckage And 11 Skeletons Found On Peak

CAMPBELL RIVER, B.C. (AP)—A wrecked U.S. Navy Neptune patrol plane and 11 skeletons were found Tuesday at the 4,000-foot level on nearby Mount McCreight.

The Royal Canadian Air Force search party beiieved the plane was one reported missing in 1951 by the Whidbey Island, Wash., naval air station.

U.S. naval authorities, advised that the plane's log books contained 1951 entries, also believed it was the missing aircraft. Another Whidbey Island Neptune has been missing in the same Vancouver Island area since 1948, with nine men aboard.

Bonn Readies Big Welcome For President

Booming Cannon, Music And Cheers To Greet Visitor

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Official and unofficial West German circles Tuesday completed preparations for a tumultuous welcome for President Eisenhower on his arrival Wednesday for talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

West German leaders hailed Eisenhower's visit as proof of his determination to protect the interests of West Germany in his talks next month with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and future East-West negotiations.

Adenauer flew back to Bonn today from a vacation in Italy to head the official welcoming party when Eisenhower's jet Boeing 707 airliner lands at nearby Wahn Airport (around 1:30 p.m. e.d.t.) Wednesday.

21-Gun Salute

Officials said Eisenhower would receive a welcome surpassing the pro-American demonstration for Secretary of State Christian A. Herter on his visit to West Berlin five weeks ago.

The West German government said Eisenhower would be greeted with a 21-gun salute by West German artillery, a German military band will play the American and German national anthems, and the President and Chancellor will inspect an honor battalion of army, navy and air force men.

After brief addresses, they will depart for the hour-long drive to the temporary White House in Bad Godesberg, the Bonn suburb that houses the diplomatic colony, where Eisenhower will stay during his 24-hour visit.

Thousands To Line Route

West German officials estimated that tens of thousands of Germans, including refugees from the Communist East, would line the 19-mile route from Wahn airport to cheer Eisenhower.

Unofficial West German organizations have distributed banners saying "Welcome, Mr. President," "Germany is Indivisible," and "70,000,000 Germans Greet Eisenhower."

Will Talk Seven Hours

Moon Bounce Signals Caught

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Radar signals sent from England bounced off the moon Tuesday and were received here.

Scientists in the Air Force-sponsored project immediately began speculating about an intercontinental moon-bounce television network.

The tests also aim at gathering information about the roughness of the moon's surface, said Dr. A. W. Straiton, director of the Electrical Engineering Research Laboratory at the University of Texas.

The laboratory is conducting the experiment under contract with the Air Force in cooperation with the royal radar establishment at Malvern, England.

Beep-sounding signals sent out by the 45-foot radio telescope at Malvern were received clearly in Austin on a 28-foot parabolic antenna.

Stranded Climbers' Bodies Recovered

FRANCONIA NOTCH, N. H. (UPI)—A band of daring men defied death Tuesday to lower the bodies of two students who died of hunger and cold on a ledge below the "Great Stone Face" of the White Mountains.

Four hardy mountain climbers slowly inched the bodies down the nearly perpendicular 500-foot precipice of profile mountain, famed tourist attraction in Franconia Notch.

The youths, Alfred Whipple Jr., 20 of Gales Ferry, Conn., a sophomore at Brown University, and Sidney Crouch, 21, of Ledyard, Conn., a student at Export (Pa.) Bible Institute, were stranded atop the ledge for 24 hours and died of exposure within minutes after rescuers reached them Monday.

Body Recovered From Mountain

Weary rescue workers carry the body of Alfred Whipple, Jr., of Ledyard, Conn., out of woods at base of Cannon Mountain near Franconia, N. H. Whipple and Sidney Crouch, Jr., from the same town, died of exposure after being trapped on a ledge while on a mountain climbing expedition. The bodies of both youths were recovered yesterday. ## Rebels Active In Eight Of 12 Laos Provinces

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Communist guerrillas were active Tuesday in eight of the 12 Laotian provinces.

But the only skirmishes reported were between royal Laotian troops and rebels near Pak Seng, 35 miles above the royal capital of Luang Prabang in central Laos. It is there the Communist Pathet Lao is trying to re-establish its political and propaganda machinery.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said a Communist company numbering about 130 men is using terroristic methoids to panic villagers into withdrawing their support from government troops.

He said the insurgents had thrown bodies—some of them children with their throats cut—into the Nam Seng River. But he said there is little chance Laung Prabang would be attacked. Such an attack, he said, would take two full regiments.

Little fighting actually has been reported. The insurgents are operating in the provinces of Phong Saly, Sam Neua, Luang Prabang, Xienglohouang, Thakhek, Saravane, Savannakhet and Vientiane. In Vientiane they have been within 60 miles of this administrative capital of Laos.

Two enclaves of Red troops have almost surrounded the northern province of Sam Neua, the main theater of rebel activity. Royal forces are spread wide. The best troops, two paratroop battalions, have been committed to the fortress outpost of Muong Peun in Sam Neua. It would be difficult to evacuate them because the airstrip will take only small planes.

Texas Coast Alerted For Possible Storm

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Residents along the Texas Coast were alerted Tuesday night "to be ready for quick action" in the event a squall line moving through the Gulf of Mexico becomes a tropical storm.

A 6 p. m. e.d.t. weather bureau advisory said a weak circulation area had been detected in disturbance and the squall stands a 50-50 chance of developing into a full-fledged tropical blow.

Navy Ships To Patrol Ike's Atlantic Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six or seven Navy ships normally engaged in patroling the North Atlantic will "move into certain positions" as a precautionary measure when President Eisenhower flies to Europe early Wednesday in a jet airliner.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty gave this information to newsmen Tuesday. Hagerty said there will be no air patrol of the Atlantic flight course.

Durfee Nominated

WASHINGTON (AP) — James Durfee, now chairman of the Civil Aeronautics Board, was nominated by President Eisenhower Tuesday to be a judge of the U.S. Court of Claims.

Man, 73, Seized As 1915 Slaying Suspect, Freed

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—An elderly man arrested last week as a suspect in a 1915 slaying in Pittsburgh, Pa., was released from jail Tuesday.

Sheriff Melvin A. Wilmirth took the action on grounds he could no longer hold Nicholas Kasanovich, 73, without a formal complaint. He had been taken into custody on charges of slaying his wife, Dragica.

"We have received no word from Pittsburgh on the matter, declared Wilmirth. "If we held him any longer we would be in violation of the state penal code."

Kasanovich has claimed another man committed the crime. He has lived in Fresno for the past 44 years and remarried.

Nehru Warns Chinese Reds

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red China got a warning Tuesday from Prime Minister Nehru: India certainly will defend the Himalayan protectorates of Bhutan and Sikkim against any invasion.

And his government is fully alive to its responsibility for the preservation of the security of India, Nehru told Parliament.

He spoke against a background of worsening relations between Peiping and New Delhi, strained since Chinese troops crushed an uprising in Tibet last spring.

Few days pass without new reports in Indian press of Communist Chinese designs on the two protectorates or on Indian territories south of Tibet.

Parliament members questioned Nehru about growing fears in Bhutan and Sikkim that Peiping is massing troops to claim both for China.

"Any infringement of their border will be infringement of our undertaking (to protect them) and we shall certainly defend them against such intrusion," Nehru replied.

Nixon Defends Bid To Khrush In Legion Talk

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday the visit of Nikita Khrushchev to the United States will aid the cause of world peace and "deserves the approval of the American people."

Nixon joined with President Eisenhower in urging a "courteous reception" for the Russian Premier next month.

He defended the wisdom of inviting Khrushchev to the U.S. in a speech before the national American Legion Convention, where the tour has been roundly condemned by some top legionnaires.

The Legion's Americanism Committee has a stack of proposed resolutions before it opposing the Khrushchev visit, and Martin G. McKneally, leading candidate for national commander of the Legion, has said the Russian's tour could cause "great harm."

Well aware that many members of his audience feared Khrushchev's visit would weaken the U.S. stand against communism, Nixon promised to give the Legionnaires "plain talk" about the tour.

"Khrushchev will find we in the U.S. will no more tolerate being pushed around than he will," Nixon predicted. He assured the people of Berlin and of free nations bordering the Iron Curtain that they "need have no concern that their principles will be compromised."

The Legionnaires responded by interrupting Nixon's speech with applause 13 times.

Nixon warned "while understanding alone will not bring peace, misunderstanding could provoke war."

"And it is because his (Khrushchev's) visit can serve to reduce the possibilities of such misunderstanding that it could contribute to the chance that we can settle our differences without war and therefore, deserves the approval of the American people."

Ex-Mate Says Slain Coed Had Death Premonition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Linda Edna Martin, pretty college coed slain in the apartment of her artist-boyfriend, had a premonition she "wouldn't live very long," her ex-husband said Monday.

Two detectives assigned to the slaying of the 21-year-old University of Southern California music student worked on the theory the slayer was a mysterious intruder who surprised the victim while she was taking a bath.

The nude body of the attractive girl was found Sunday night in the Bohemian-type apartment of her boy friend G. Robert Kinzie, 27, a graduate art student at USC. She was stabbed three times in the breast.

In Chicago, the girl's former husband, John Lewis Taylor, 24, said "once or twice she remarked that she thought she wouldn't live very long—that she might die abnormally."

Taylor said he never met Kinzie, who said he was going to marry Miss Martin. Kinzie was cleared after a three-hour lie-detector test.

On the night of the slaying, Mrs. Helen Lund, a neighbor, said she heard an argument and the coed's screams for help.

Officers also refuted reports Tuesday the bearded Kinzie was a beatnik. Other tenants said there were no wild and loud parties in his room as far as they know, and Kinzie himself denied any connection with beatniks.

Police originally believed the slayer was a man who may have visited the apartment regularly and may have been known to the dead girl.

But Mrs. Lund's story led officers to discount such a possibility.

Eisenhower Rules Out Red Appeasement

Free World Unity Against Aggression Aim Of Europe Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday he is going to Europe both to repledge America's devotion to peace and to support the West in opposing any aggression, "by force if necessary."

That was the first major point in what amounted to a farewell statement in advance of Eisenhower's takeoff before dawn Wednesday.

It was designed to reassure the free world allies and to warn the Soviet Union that out of the President's forthcoming exchange of visits with Nikita Khrushchev there will be no secret, two-party deals undermining the Western position.

Eisenhower told his news conference he would urge a joint reiteration by Western heads of government that "regardless of pressure or inducement we shall never retreat from our ideals or principles or weaken in our resolution to remain secure as we continue the search for peace."

Bonn, Then London And Paris

Flying by jet for the first time, Eisenhower is going to Bonn, Germany, to confer with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, to London to meet with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and to Paris to consult with President Charles de Gaulle.

Later on, the President is going to the Soviet Union after Soviet Premier Khrushchev visits the United States for 13 days beginning Sept. 15.

As for his Soviet visitor, Eisenhower said the Soviet Foreign Ministry advised Monday night that Khrushchev will be coming here in effect as chief of state, not in a No. 2 role as head of government. So Eisenhower will welcome his visitor at the airport and presumably give him all the other recognition accorded the chief of a foreign nation. That would include a 21-gun salute rather than 19, and a state dinner at the White House.

Eisenhower displayed a little annoyance at criticism of his plan to return Khrushchev's visit.

He said it would be farfetched to say such a trip would erode the President's prestige and "I get a little weary about people" who take such a stand.

Ike Prods Congress

Questions and answers swung around to such topics as:

Legislation—Eisenhower had another statement ready. He said he earnestly hopes that before Congress quits it will avoid "serious repercussions to the country" by passing adequate bills dealing with interest rates and debt management, financing of highways, and continuing the federal home mortgage insurance program.

He said he also wants an effective labor reform bill, a civil rights program, and adequate funds to carry on "the imperatively needed mutual security program."

Carey—A questioner wanted to know what Eisenhower thinks of the tactics of James B. Carey, an AFL-CIO vice president, in threatening political defeat of members of Congress who voted for a stringent labor control bill.

Eisenhower said he assumes every congressman voted his conscience and he doesn't think any man "is going to surrender his conscience because of any kind of threat or implied threat that involves the polls."

Steel — The President still is keeping hands off the steel strike and calling on management and labor to solve their problems through free bargaining without fostering inflation.

Polaris Rocket Fails To Achieve Test Goals

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris test rocket shot over the Atlantic Tuesday but failed to achieve all its goals because of trouble in the second stage.

A brief Navy announcement said that although the missile launched successfully, "There is evidence that malfunction occurred in the second stage after separation."

The 28-foot missile, designed as a nuclear punch for submarines, is expected eventually to hit a target 1,500 miles away.

Bonn Readies Big Welcome For President

Booming Cannon, Music And Cheers To Greet Visitor

BONN, Germany (UPI)—Official and unofficial West German circles Tuesday completed preparations for a tumultuous welcome for President Eisenhower on his arrival Wednesday for talks with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

West German leaders hailed Eisenhower's visit as proof of his determination to protect the interests of West Germany in his talks next month with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and future East-West negotiations.

Adenauer flew back to Bonn today from a vacation in Italy to head the official welcoming party when Eisenhower's jet Boeing 707 airliner lands at nearby Wahn Airport (around 1:30 p.m. e.d.t.) Wednesday.

21-Gun Salute

Officials said Eisenhower would receive a welcome surpassing the pro-American demonstration for Secretary of State Christian A. Herter on his visit to West Berlin five weeks ago.

The West German government said Eisenhower would be greeted with a 21-gun salute by West German artillery, a German military band will play the American and German national anthems, and the President and Chancellor will inspect an honor battalion of army, navy and air force men.

Thousands To Line Route

West German officials estimated that tens of thousands of Germans, including refugees from the Communist East, would line the 19-mile route from Wahn airport to cheer Eisenhower.

Unofficial West German organizations have distributed banners saying "Welcome, Mr. President," "Germany is Indivisible," and "70,000,000 Germans Greet Eisenhower."

Will Talk Seven Hours

Motherwell Captured; Denies Slaying Widow

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Larry Lord Motherwell, charged with murdering an elderly, wealthy widow during a cross-country junket, went to jail Tuesday denying he killed the Washington, D.C., woman. He said he didn't even know she was dead.

Arrested just before boarding a plane for Cleveland, Ohio, Motherwell, 43, first tried to convince FBI agents they had the wrong man. He had been living in Atlanta several weeks under the name Craig DuBar Foster.

About eight hours after his arrest, he appeared before U.S. Commissioner Frank A. Holden. His hearing was interrupted and then postponed after Washington attorneys hired by Motherwell's wife telephoned and requested a delay.

Before the postponement he acknowledged he is Motherwell. He is under $50,000 bond.

Motherwell is charged with murdering Pearl Ida Putney, 72, widow of Albert H. Putney, onetime State Department official and university professor.

She had been missing a year and a day. Parts of her skeleton were found in Sierra County, Calif., Aug. 16. The FBI said the widow and Motherwell, neighbors in Washington, left there together for what Mrs. Putney called "a last fling." She sold some property just before leaving.

Mrs. Putney reportedly was carrying about $60,000 in cash and securities when last seen leaving a motel with Motherwell in Marysville, Calif. Marysville is about 60 miles southeast of the lonely wooded area where Mrs. Putney's bones were discovered.

Talking briefly with newsmen from his detention cell, the natily attired Motherwell said:

"It came as quite a surprise to me to be arrested. Since last Jan-

Rebels Active In Eight Of 12 Laos Provinces

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Communist guerrillas were active Tuesday in eight of the 12 Laotian provinces.

But the only skirmishes reported were between royal Laotian troops and rebels near Pak Seng, 35 miles above the royal capital of Luang Prabang in central Laos. It is there the Communist Pathet Lao is trying to re-establish its political and propaganda machinery.

A Defense Ministry spokesman said a Communist company numbering about 130 men is using terroristic methoids to panic villagers into withdrawing their support from government troops.

He said the insurgents had thrown bodies—some of them children with their throats cut—into the Nam Seng River. But he said there is little chance Laung Prabang would be attacked. Such an attack, he said, would take two full regiments.

Little fighting actually has been reported. The insurgents are operating in the provinces of Phong Saly, Sam Neua, Luang Prabang, Xienglohouang, Thakhek, Saravane, Savannakhet and Vientiane. In Vientiane they have been within 60 miles of this administrative capital of Laos.

Two enclaves of Red troops have almost surrounded the northern province of Sam Neua, the main theater of rebel activity. Royal forces are spread wide. The best troops, two paratroop battalions, have been committed to the fortress outpost of Muong Peun in Sam Neua. It would be difficult to evacuate them because the airstrip will take only small planes.

Texas Coast Alerted For Possible Storm

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — Residents along the Texas Coast were alerted Tuesday night "to be ready for quick action" in the event a squall line moving through the Gulf of Mexico becomes a tropical storm.

A 6 p. m. e.d.t. weather bureau advisory said a weak circulation area had been detected in disturbance and the squall stands a 50-50 chance of developing into a full-fledged tropical blow.

Stranded Climbers' Bodies Recovered

FRANCONIA NOTCH, N. H. (UPI)—A band of daring men defied death Tuesday to lower the bodies of two students who died of hunger and cold on a ledge below the "Great Stone Face" of the White Mountains.

Four hardy mountain climbers slowly inched the bodies down the nearly perpendicular 500-foot precipice of profile mountain, famed tourist attraction in Franconia Notch.

The youths, Alfred Whipple Jr., 20 of Gales Ferry, Conn., a sophomore at Brown University, and Sidney Crouch, 21, of Ledyard, Conn., a student at Export (Pa.) Bible Institute, were stranded atop the ledge for 24 hours and died of exposure within minutes after rescuers reached them Monday.

Navy Ships To Patrol Ike's Atlantic Route

WASHINGTON (AP) — Six or seven Navy ships normally engaged in patroling the North Atlantic will "move into certain positions" as a precautionary measure when President Eisenhower flies to Europe early Wednesday in a jet airliner.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty gave this information to newsmen Tuesday. Hagerty said there will be no air patrol of the Atlantic flight course.

Man, 73, Seized As 1915 Slaying Suspect, Freed

FRESNO, Calif. (UPI)—An elderly man arrested last week as a suspect in a 1915 slaying in Pittsburgh, Pa., was released from jail Tuesday.

Sheriff Melvin A. Wilmirth took the action on grounds he could no longer hold Nicholas Kasanovich, 73, without a formal complaint. He had been taken into custody on charges of slaying his wife, Dragica.

"We have received no word from Pittsburgh on the matter, declared Wilmirth. "If we held him any longer we would be in violation of the state penal code."

Kasanovich has claimed another man committed the crime. He has lived in Fresno for the past 44 years and remarried.

Nehru Warns Chinese Reds

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—Red China got a warning Tuesday from Prime Minister Nehru: India certainly will defend the Himalayan protectorates of Bhutan and Sikkim against any invasion.

And his government is fully alive to its responsibility for the preservation of the security of India, Nehru told Parliament.

He spoke against a background of worsening relations between Peiping and New Delhi, strained since Chinese troops crushed an uprising in Tibet last spring.

Few days pass without new reports in Indian press of Communist Chinese designs on the two protectorates or on Indian territories south of Tibet.

Parliament members questioned Nehru about growing fears in Bhutan and Sikkim that Peiping is massing troops to claim both for China.

"Any infringement of their border will be infringement of our undertaking (to protect them) and we shall certainly defend them against such intrusion," Nehru replied.

Ex-Mate Says Slain Coed Had Death Premonition

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Linda Edna Martin, pretty college coed slain in the apartment of her artist-boyfriend, had a premonition she "wouldn't live very long," her ex-husband said Monday.

Two detectives assigned to the slaying of the 21-year-old University of Southern California music student worked on the theory the slayer was a mysterious intruder who surprised the victim while she was taking a bath.

The nude body of the attractive girl was found Sunday night in the Bohemian-type apartment of her boy friend G. Robert Kinzie, 27, a graduate art student at USC. She was stabbed three times in the breast.

In Chicago, the girl's former husband, John Lewis Taylor, 24, said "once or twice she remarked that she thought she wouldn't live very long—that she might die abnormally."

Taylor said he never met Kinzie, who said he was going to marry Miss Martin. Kinzie was cleared after a three-hour lie-detector test.

On the night of the slaying, Mrs. Helen Lund, a neighbor, said she heard an argument and the coed's screams for help.

Officers also refuted reports Tuesday the bearded Kinzie was a beatnik. Other tenants said there were no wild and loud parties in his room as far as they know, and Kinzie himself denied any connection with beatniks.

Police originally believed the slayer was a man who may have visited the apartment regularly and may have been known to the dead girl.

But Mrs. Lund's story led officers to discount such a possibility.

Nixon Defends Bid To Khrush In Legion Talk

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — Vice-President Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday the visit of Nikita Khrushchev to the United States will aid the cause of world peace and "deserves the approval of the American people."

Nixon joined with President Eisenhower in urging a "courteous reception" for the Russian Premier next month.

He defended the wisdom of inviting Khrushchev to the U.S. in a speech before the national American Legion Convention, where the tour has been roundly condemned by some top legionnaires.

The Legion's Americanism Committee has a stack of proposed resolutions before it opposing the Khrushchev visit, and Martin G. McKneally, leading candidate for national commander of the Legion, has said the Russian's tour could cause "great harm."

Well aware that many members of his audience feared Khrushchev's visit would weaken the U.S. stand against communism, Nixon promised to give the Legionnaires "plain talk" about the tour.

"Khrushchev will find we in the U.S. will no more tolerate being pushed around than he will," Nixon predicted. He assured the people of Berlin and of free nations bordering the Iron Curtain that they "need have no concern that their principles will be compromised."

The Legionnaires responded by interrupting Nixon's speech with applause 13 times.

Nixon warned "while understanding alone will not bring peace, misunderstanding could provoke war."

"And it is because his (Khrushchev's) visit can serve to reduce the possibilities of such misunderstanding that it could contribute to the chance that we can settle our differences without war and therefore, deserves the approval of the American people."

Free World Unity Against Aggression Aim Of Europe Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said Tuesday he is going to Europe both to repledge America's devotion to peace and to support the West in opposing any aggression, "by force if necessary."

That was the first major point in what amounted to a farewell statement in advance of Eisenhower's takeoff before dawn Wednesday.

It was designed to reassure the free world allies and to warn the Soviet Union that out of the President's forthcoming exchange of visits with Nikita Khrushchev there will be no secret, two-party deals undermining the Western position.

Eisenhower told his news conference he would urge a joint reiteration by Western heads of government that "regardless of pressure or inducement we shall never retreat from our ideals or principles or weaken in our resolution to remain secure as we continue the search for peace."

Bonn, Then London And Paris

Flying by jet for the first time, Eisenhower is going to Bonn, Germany, to confer with Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, to London to meet with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, and to Paris to consult with President Charles de Gaulle.

Later on, the President is going to the Soviet Union after Soviet Premier Khrushchev visits the United States for 13 days beginning Sept. 15.

As for his Soviet visitor, Eisenhower said the Soviet Foreign Ministry advised Monday night that Khrushchev will be coming here in effect as chief of state, not in a No. 2 role as head of government. So Eisenhower will welcome his visitor at the airport and presumably give him all the other recognition accorded the chief of a foreign nation. That would include a 21-gun salute rather than 19, and a state dinner at the White House.

Eisenhower displayed a little annoyance at criticism of his plan to return Khrushchev's visit.

He said it would be farfetched to say such a trip would erode the President's prestige and "I get a little weary about people" who take such a stand.

Ike Prods Congress

Questions and answers swung around to such topics as:

Legislation—Eisenhower had another statement ready. He said he earnestly hopes that before Congress quits it will avoid "serious repercussions to the country" by passing adequate bills dealing with interest rates and debt management, financing of highways, and continuing the federal home mortgage insurance program.

He said he also wants an effective labor reform bill, a civil rights program, and adequate funds to carry on "the imperatively needed mutual security program."

Carey—A questioner wanted to know what Eisenhower thinks of the tactics of James B. Carey, an AFL-CIO vice president, in threatening political defeat of members of Congress who voted for a stringent labor control bill.

Eisenhower said he assumes every congressman voted his conscience and he doesn't think any man "is going to surrender his conscience because of any kind of threat or implied threat that involves the polls."

Steel — The President still is keeping hands off the steel strike and calling on management and labor to solve their problems through free bargaining without fostering inflation.

Polaris Rocket Fails To Achieve Test Goals

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—A Polaris test rocket shot over the Atlantic Tuesday but failed to achieve all its goals because of trouble in the second stage.

A brief Navy announcement said that although the missile launched successfully, "There is evidence that malfunction occurred in the second stage after separation."

The 28-foot missile, designed as a nuclear punch for submarines, is expected eventually to hit a target 1,500 miles away.

Union President Opposes T-H Use In Steel Strike

NEW YORK (UPI) —Steel union President David J. McDonald said Tuesday the 42-day-old steel shutdown was "hurting" many of the 500,000 strikers, but he opposed emergency use of the Taft-Hartley Act to end the walkout for fear it would "leave a festering sore" in the industry.

McDonald told a news conference that only a few of the strikers have had to go on relief but that did not mean people were not "hurting."

"They are," he said, "and if this thing goes on, we will run into distress."

But at the same time, McDonald reported that he had never seen spirit before such as that being displayed by the strikers and their families.

"They are determined to fight this battle to a successful conclusion," he said.

McDonald spoke firmly on the subject of the Taft-Hartley Act, which some persons hope will be used to end the strike and set the mills to rolling again.

"The Taft-Hartley Law should not be used to settle the matter that could and should be worked out if genuine, sensible collective bargaining was inaugurated," he said.

"Driving the Steelworkers back into the mills would settle nothing. It would leave a festering sore and irritate labor - management relations in this vital industry for years to come.

"Taft-Hartley injunction cannot substitute for justice. We have been striking for true collective bargaining on the part of steel industry leaders. That is the key to settling this dispute."

McDonald talked to newsmen after meeting for nearly three hours with his union's 33-member executive board. He said no formal action was taken by the board, which recessed until 4:30 p.m. e.d.t. Wednesday.

House Banking Unit Approves Big Housing Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Banking Committee pushed the big $1,050,000,000 housing bill another step toward final congressional passage Tuesday despite a veiled warning from President Eisenhower that he may veto it.

The committee approved the controversial Senate-passed measure by an overwhelming 19-4 vote. The House Rules Committee promptly announced it would meet Wednesday to consider sending the bill to the floor Thursday for a showdown vote.

Shortly afterward, the President sent Congress a special message asking for an increase in the Federal Housing Administratoin's authority to insure home mortgages. He coupled the request with a warning that any such action should not be included in the general housing bill.

Eisenhower, who is strongly opposed to many provisions in the housing measure, gave the strongest indication to date that he will veto it, just as he did an earlier and bigger bill, if it reaches his desk.

"An increase in FHA's loan insurance authority," he said, "should not be made contingent upon the possibility of approval by the President, after the Congress has adjourned, of legislation which contains features that the administration finds seriously objectionable and that are entirely unrelated to FHA's home loan insurance program."

The housing bill would authorize FHA to guarantee an additional eight billion dollars worth of home loans through Oct. 1, 1960. FHA's current authorization has run out and the President warned that the loan program would be seriously endangered unless Congress acts.

The loan provision in the housing blil presumably is acceptable to Eisenhower. But Republican congressional leaders have been warning for weeks that he may not accept other provisions. The President all but said the same thing in his special message.

Ex-Dictator's Custody Sought By Venezuela

MIAMI (UPI) — U. S. deputies yanked pudgy ex-dictator Marcos Perez Jimenez from his luxury mansion here Tuesday and arraigned him for Venezuela's attempt to extradite him on charges of murder and theft.

A hearing for the bald ex-dictator was held within hours of the time he was picked up wearing casual sports clothes at his palm-fringed estate. He was released under $25,000 bond.

Venezuela, which charges Perez stole millions, will have 60 days to prove that he stole at least $200. That would subject Perez to be extradited under a treaty signed between the two countries Jan. 19, 1922.

Immediately after the hearing, one of the former Venezuelan president's attorneys announced he would hold an unprecedented news conference at his Miami Beach home Wednesday morning. The attorney said Perez "will comment in full on the charges tomorrow."

Two federal deputies picked up Perez who was dressed in a yellow straw hat, a light brown sport coat, dark brown trousers and a checkered blue sport shirt opened at the neck.

His wife, a short, dark woman, arrived after Perez was in the office for about an hour. She cried as the two embraced.

Perez was arrested on a warrant signed by Venezuelan General Consul Manuel Aristeguieta. The warrant said Aristeguieta swore to an oath that Perez is charged in Venezuela with "murder, attempt to commit murder, embezzlement for criminal malversation, and as an accessory in such crimes, which crimes are specified by the treaty of extradition between the Republic of Venezuela and the United States, and it further appearing that the defendant has fled from the Republic of Venezuela..."

He rented the room a month ago and Mrs. Field recalled:

Butler Seeks To Revive Convention Elector Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) —National Chairman Paul Butler will ask the Democratic National Committee to readopt a 1956 rule which conceivably could bar from the 1960 nominating convention any state omitting names of party nominees from its ballot or electing uninstructed electors.

Several southern states have taken steps through legislation or within state Democratic organizations to omit names of the presidential and vice presidential nominees and to choose electors committed to no one.

The idea is that if the state's Democratic leaders do not approve of the party's nominees they would withhold support in the Electoral College and, if no candidate received a majority there, throw the election of the president into the House of Representatives where each state has one vote.

A spokesman at the national Democratic headquarters said Tuesday that Butler at the committee's Sept. 16 meeting in Washington would ask readoption of the rule which was approved by the committee prior to the 1956 convention.

The spokesman said the rule was drawn by a subcommittee of northerners and southerners and was designed to replace the so-called loyalty oath which had been in effect earlier and was somewhat more strongly worded. It was adopted by the 1956 convention.

LIMERICK, Ireland (AP)—Fire raced through a giant business block in the heart of Limerick Tuesday and brought nearly three million dollars worth of property crashing down in ruins within a few hours. The blaze started in the William Todd and Co. department store.

Butler Seeks To Revive Convention Elector Rule

WASHINGTON (AP) —National Chairman Paul Butler will ask the Democratic National Committee to readopt a 1956 rule which conceivably could bar from the 1960 nominating convention any state omitting names of party nominees from its ballot or electing uninstructed electors.

Several southern states have taken steps through legislation or within state Democratic organizations to omit names of the presidential and vice presidential nominees and to choose electors committed to no one.

The idea is that if the state's Democratic leaders do not approve of the party's nominees they would withhold support in the Electoral College and, if no candidate received a majority there, throw the election of the president into the House of Representatives where each state has one vote.

A spokesman at the national Democratic headquarters said Tuesday that Butler at the committee's Sept. 16 meeting in Washington would ask readoption of the rule which was approved by the committee prior to the 1956 convention.

The spokesman said the rule was drawn by a subcommittee of northerners and southerners and was designed to replace the so-called loyalty oath which had been in effect earlier and was somewhat more strongly worded. It was adopted by the 1956 convention.

2nd Army Offensive Set In Five-Year Paper War

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP) — The 2nd Army is going to start moving on the offense after two years of warding off an enemy.

The "Five-Year War" is strictly on paper.

It is a command post exercise for 4,000 men of the regular Army, reservists and National Guardsmen from Maryland, Virginia, Ohio, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and the District of Columbia.

The third phase of the training will be held Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 19-20. It calls for the use of a theoretical force of 335,000 soldiers in an attack, defense against a counter attack and a counter offensive.

The war started in 1957 when an aggressor attacked the U.S. with superior ground and air strength. The 2nd Army's mission was strictly defensive at the outset.

Last year, atomic weapons were introduced and the 9th U.S. Air Force came in to erase 230 enemy planes from the paper.

This put the 2nd Army in position to take a firm stand and able to attack next month.

1,269 To Lose Jobs At Martin Plant

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Martin Co. Tuesday notified 1,269 employes they will be discharged Wednesday because of the Navy's cancellation of its jet SeaMaster construction contract.

Another 1,700 workers are expected to be made jobless within the next few weeks.

A Martin spokesman had reported that construction was 90 per cent complete when the Navy announced termination of the plane project. The work program had been scheduled to continue well into 1960.

The Navy said last Friday it was ending the contract because of "technical difficulties," but company denied any existed.

Maryland Auto Traffic Up 7.7%

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland highways took a greater pounding last month than in July 1958, the State Roads Commission said Tuesday.

Traffic showed an average increase of 7.7 per cent. The survey covered 30 counter stations and the four toll facilities.

Susquehanna River Bridge traffic was up 6 per cent. Potomac River Bridge 11.4, Chesapeake Bay Bridge 10.8 per cent, and the Baltimore Harbor Tunnel 23.5 per cent.

Increases also were noted at all but 4 of the 30 permanent counters throughout the state. The gain ranged from 2 per cent on U.S. 50 west of Ocean city to a high of 32.8 per cent on U.S. 301 east of U.S. 213.

Decreases were recorded on Maryland 309 north of Queen Anne where traffic was down 129 per cent; U.S. 13 north of Salisbury, down 4.4 per cent; Maryland 413 near Marion, down 5 per cent; and U.S. 40 at Bush River, down 1 per cent.

Through July, traffic for the year was 13.3 per cent higher than the first seven months of 1958.

Color TV Takes Lead

MOSCOW (AP) — The voting machines at the U.S. exhibition showed a new leader in the popularity poll after four weeks of balloting by exhibit visitors. Color television passed automobiles. A new question added last week gave the Russians a chance to vote on American jazz musicians. Louis Armstrong led that category with 676. Duke Ellington was second with 568.

Strontium Found In Potomac River

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Strontium 90 — the radioactive fallout from nuclear tests — is present in the Potomac River but it's nothing for those depending on the stream for water to worry about.

The Hagerstown City Water Dept. was advised Tuesday the water is quite safe by Ralph C. Palange, assistant chief of water supply and water research for the U.S. Public Health Service.

The concentration in the water tested at Williamsport was 1.4 radio active units per liter compared with the maximum permissable concentration of 80 units, Palange said. Further downstream at Great Falls, the count is 2.4 units.

Technicians have been taking water samples at the two points and in other sections of the country since January to calm any fear water users may have about their sources of supply.

Weather Aids Md. Farmers

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Weather conditions were generally good in Maryland and Delaware last week and as a result farmers kept a busy schedule.

The Crop Reporting Service said Tuesday in its weekly summary that hay making, silo filling, tobacco harvesting, and the preparation of land for fall seeding proceeded smoothly.

However, some sections in north central Maryland and westward to Hancock need rain.

Disease Spreads

SEOUL (UPI) — Forty - eight Koreans have died in a growing outbreak of sleeping sickness (encephalitis), the Health and Social Ministry reported Tuesday. The ministry said 63 new cases of the disease had been reported in one day.

Jailed For Smoking

LEEDS, England (UPI)—Raymond Saddington, 24, was sentenced to three months in jail Tuesday for smoking half a cigaret during working hours. Saddington is a miner at the Waterloo coal mine near here. Smoking in mines is forbidden because of the danger of explosion.

Hospitals Up Wages, Cut Hours In Face Of Drive By Union

BALTIMORE (AP) — Wage increases and shorter work weeks have been given voluntarily to employes of two Baltimore hospitals because of a union organizing drive, an AFL-CIO official said Tuesday.

Oliver W. Singleton, regional director of the labor group, explained that the Building Service Employees International Union recently received a charter for a Baltimore local and started to organize hospital employes.

The union hasn't sought recognition for any hospital group, but held an organization meeting recently for 150 Johns Hopkins Hospital employes.

Singleton said that Johns Hopkins housekeeping employes got an increase of three to nine cents per hour. Sinai Hospital nurses had their work week cut from six to five days.

Morgantown GOP Meet Reset

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State GOP chairman Daniel L. Louchery said Tuesday that a Republican State Training Conference, scheduled for Morgantown in October, has been rescheduled.

He said the meeting originally proposed for Oct. 23-24 had been moved up to Oct. 9-10 because of conflicting dates of other meetings throughout the state.

The change in dates makes it impossible for Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton to attend, Louchery said. Another prominent speaker would be obtained, he added.

The two-day session, to be held an Mount Chateau Lodge near Morgantown, will set forth ways to obtain 15,000 additional volunteer precinct workers for the 1960 elections.

St. Peter's church, in Zurich, Switzerland, has the largest clock dial in Europe.

Maryland Jobless Payments Increase

BALTIMORE (AP) — Short-term shutdowns for inventory and vacations helped increase the number of benefit payments to Maryland's jobless last month, but the total was far under that of July, 1958.

The Department of Employment Security said payments increased from $2,912,000 in June to $3,028,191, but last month's figure was 34.8 per cent under the $4,640,922 paid out in July 1958.

DES Executive Director Robert Kimble said the June to July increase was not due to the steel strike because the walkout of steelworkers and resultant secondary employment came too late in the month to affect July payments.

Social Security Oldster Honored

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance threw a birthday party Tuesday for John Diggs.

Diggs turned out to be one of the 150 persons in the United States born in 1859 or earlier who now draw Social Security benefits.

He was born 102 years ago in Reisterstown, Baltimore County, and retired in January 1946 when 88. Diggs has collected 163 monthly benefit checks, earned while employed as an apartment house maintenance man.

He got a decorated birthday cake and a scroll with greetings from Bureau Director Victor Christgau.

Edson Would Have Khrush And Family Tour U.S. In Disguise On Limited Budget

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Nikita Khrushchev really wants to see this country, he's going at it the wrong way.

To see America properly he should avoid the grand, ostentatious tour.

This would be a far better plan:

First, let him buy a wig, so no one would recognize him. Then he should load his family—three lively girls are ideal—into a small station wagon, and set out to see things, pot luck, for himself.

To make the thing more sporting, he should limit himself to $30 a day for the whole family. He won't live high, but he can live surprisingly well.

True, he won't get much restaurant cooking on this budget, but, with his stomach, he should not mind.

A fair warning: Keep a sharp lookout for picnic tables that look promising. Come to think of it, is there anything more communistic, in the best sense, than the roadside picnic table?

If Mr. K. has an inquisitive mind, he will learn a lot about America's beauty, its strength, its weakness, its endless variety. But let him see us, warts and all, and he should return with a much better idea of what makes us tick.

This is the conviction of one who is just back from three weeks of moseying through the Southeast, all the way to Key West, Fla. Another area would be different, but just as illuminating.

If Khrushchev took a similar trip, he could report back to the Kremlin:

Contrary to our spies, America's real genius is not going into guided missiles and other weapons. No, comrades, the country's main interest seems to be in designing and naming new motels.

For a stupifying experience, take a ride, preferably at night, along Miami Beach. Hundreds of motels and hotels, each trying to be different, each trying to shout louder than the other this simple phrase: "Lodging for the night."

Get away from the main highways, and take a look at nature.

The surprise at Juno Beach, Fla., where a nature - loving youngster one night took us up the beach to spy on a giant loggerhead turtle, in from sea to lay her eggs. And the beach covered with the results of a previous visit, little loggerheads scrambling madly about, searching for the sea.

The delight of strolling along the battery in Charleston, S. C., along Bull St. in Savannah, Ga.

Laos Situation Nearing Point For Pact Test

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Developments in Laos are approaching a point where they may become a test of the effectiveness of the Southeast Asia Treaty organization.

Communist guerrilla infiltration has now spread from the two northern provinces, where Communists have been powerful from the time of the Indochina war, to a point near the capital. Red forces are reported concentrating along the whole 1,000-mile border with the Communist bloc.

If this represents the beginning of a Communist attempt to take the whole country, SEATO will either have to intervene or assume, in Asiatic eyes, some of the aspects of a paper tiger.

Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam are barred from SEATO membership by the Geneva protocols which ended the Indochina war. Nevertheless, the organization was founded with their defense as part of its objective, and they are specifically named in one of the treaty's protocols.

There has always been some doubt about the efficacy of SEATO.

It was organized as part of the Allied position that, following the North Korean and Viet Nam armistices, no further Communist advances would be permitted. It was born along with the idea of "massive retaliation."

First there was Anzus, an agreement between the United States, Australia and New Zealand which recognized fear of a revitalized Japan. For extension of defense plans around the Southeast Asia perimeter, these countries joined with Britain, France the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand.

This virtually completed a worldwide line of containment of communism which had been tacitly envisioned under the Truman Doctrine, first enunciated with regard to Greece and Turkey.

But the line, especially in Asia with India not participating, always was and still is a tenuous one.

The United States already is giving Laos some very slight aid through military advice and materiel. The test for SEATO will come if much more is needed.

The United States, for propaganda purposes, is attributing the current trouble to Communist headquarters in Moscow. Many observers, however, consider it much more directly a Chinese Communist project, perhaps even designed to cut into the initiative held by Moscow through the recent Berlin crisis and negotiations between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower.

Hong Kong May Curb U.S. Textile Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Commerce Henry Kearns said Monday there's a good chance Hong Kong will voluntarily limit its exports of textile products to the United States within the next two months.

Kearns made this observation in telling a news conference he expects to leave about Oct. 20 for Hong Kong and seven other points in the Far East.

Kearns, assistant secretary for international affairs, visited Hong Kong early this year in an effort to win acceptance there of voluntary export controls. The American textile industry has been complaining for many months about increased shipments from Hong Kong.

The commerce official declined to speculate on the exact scope of any quotas that Hong Kong might impose.

Japan several years ago voluntarily limited textile exports to the United States in response to pressure from the American industry and the Commerce Department.

Cotton mills in the United States employ some 500 thousand persons.

Atlas Nearly Ready For SAC

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The continent-spanning Atlas missile will move out of the testing stage and into the hands of the Strategic Air Command ready for "wartime" firing—if necessary—within several weeks, the Air Force said Monday.

Joseph V. Charyk, assistant secretary of the Air Force for research and development, told the fourth annual Ballistic Missile and Space Symposium Monday:

"The time when the first operational type Atlas will be fired from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif., is now at hand."

He added, "We are on the brink" of declaring the 6,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missile operational. But he would not set a date for the first firing of such a model of the missile from the central California coastal base.

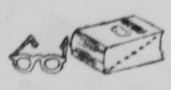

One of the huge, 6,000 mile missiles was static-fired at the base Sunday, indicating it would be fired soon.

(From Cape Canaveral, Fla., the Air Force Monday fired an Atlas on a 5,000 mile flight over the Atlantic on a shakedown flight. The Air Force said it was a successful test—the fourth in a row.)

Charyk also told of plans to launch polar-orbiting satellites from Vandenberg to provide a world - wide communications network "for the entire Strategic Air Command bombing fleet."

Edson Would Have Khrush And Family Tour U.S. In Disguise On Limited Budget

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP)—If Nikita Khrushchev really wants to see this country, he's going at it the wrong way.

To see America properly he should avoid the grand, ostentatious tour.

This would be a far better plan:

First, let him buy a wig, so no one would recognize him. Then he should load his family—three lively girls are ideal—into a small station wagon, and set out to see things, pot luck, for himself.

To make the thing more sporting, he should limit himself to $30 a day for the whole family. He won't live high, but he can live surprisingly well.

True, he won't get much restaurant cooking on this budget, but, with his stomach, he should not mind.

A fair warning: Keep a sharp lookout for picnic tables that look promising. Come to think of it, is there anything more communistic, in the best sense, than the roadside picnic table?

If Mr. K. has an inquisitive mind, he will learn a lot about America's beauty, its strength, its weakness, its endless variety. But let him see us, warts and all, and he should return with a much better idea of what makes us tick.

This is the conviction of one who is just back from three weeks of moseying through the Southeast, all the way to Key West, Fla. Another area would be different, but just as illuminating.

If Khrushchev took a similar trip, he could report back to the Kremlin:

Contrary to our spies, America's real genius is not going into guided missiles and other weapons. No, comrades, the country's main interest seems to be in designing and naming new motels.

For a stupifying experience, take a ride, preferably at night, along Miami Beach. Hundreds of motels and hotels, each trying to be different, each trying to shout louder than the other this simple phrase: "Lodging for the night."

Get away from the main highways, and take a look at nature.

The surprise at Juno Beach, Fla., where a nature - loving youngster one night took us up the beach to spy on a giant loggerhead turtle, in from sea to lay her eggs. And the beach covered with the results of a previous visit, little loggerheads scrambling madly about, searching for the sea.

The delight of strolling along the battery in Charleston, S. C., along Bull St. in Savannah, Ga.

Hong Kong May Curb U.S. Textile Exports

WASHINGTON (AP) — Assistant Secretary of Commerce Henry Kearns said Monday there's a good chance Hong Kong will voluntarily limit its exports of textile products to the United States within the next two months.

Kearns made this observation in telling a news conference he expects to leave about Oct. 20 for Hong Kong and seven other points in the Far East.

Kearns, assistant secretary for international affairs, visited Hong Kong early this year in an effort to win acceptance there of voluntary export controls. The American textile industry has been complaining for many months about increased shipments from Hong Kong.

The commerce official declined to speculate on the exact scope of any quotas that Hong Kong might impose.

Japan several years ago voluntarily limited textile exports to the United States in response to pressure from the American industry and the Commerce Department.

Laos Situation Nearing Point For Pact Test

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Developments in Laos are approaching a point where they may become a test of the effectiveness of the Southeast Asia Treaty organization.

Communist guerrilla infiltration has now spread from the two northern provinces, where Communists have been powerful from the time of the Indochina war, to a point near the capital. Red forces are reported concentrating along the whole 1,000-mile border with the Communist bloc.

If this represents the beginning of a Communist attempt to take the whole country, SEATO will either have to intervene or assume, in Asiatic eyes, some of the aspects of a paper tiger.

Laos, Cambodia and South Viet Nam are barred from SEATO membership by the Geneva protocols which ended the Indochina war. Nevertheless, the organization was founded with their defense as part of its objective, and they are specifically named in one of the treaty's protocols.

There has always been some doubt about the efficacy of SEATO.

It was organized as part of the Allied position that, following the North Korean and Viet Nam armistices, no further Communist advances would be permitted. It was born along with the idea of "massive retaliation."

First there was Anzus, an agreement between the United States, Australia and New Zealand which recognized fear of a revitalized Japan. For extension of defense plans around the Southeast Asia perimeter, these countries joined with Britain, France the Philippines, Pakistan and Thailand.

This virtually completed a worldwide line of containment of communism which had been tacitly envisioned under the Truman Doctrine, first enunciated with regard to Greece and Turkey.

But the line, especially in Asia with India not participating, always was and still is a tenuous one.

The United States already is giving Laos some very slight aid through military advice and materiel. The test for SEATO will come if much more is needed.

The United States, for propaganda purposes, is attributing the current trouble to Communist headquarters in Moscow. Many observers, however, consider it much more directly a Chinese Communist project, perhaps even designed to cut into the initiative held by Moscow through the recent Berlin crisis and negotiations between Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev and President Eisenhower.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR READERS: Recently I was reminded of that childhood song — "Ten thousand Swedes came out of the weeds . . . ."

I feel as if I've been clobbered by at least that many, as a result of my remarks on the "Swedish system."

When a reader criticized my "antiquated sense of morals" and suggested we pattern our attitudes toward sex after Sweden's, I pointed out that the divorce rate in Sweden may be lower than ours, but the percentage of out-of-wedlock babies and suicides make up for it.

The wrath among my Swedish readers packed a wallop that might explain the mystery of Ingemar's right hand.

One of the less vitriolic readers gave an interesting explanation for the high suicide rate in Sweden. Here it is:

DEAR ANN: The suicide rate in Sweden is high, but there's a reason. In Sweden suicide doesn't carry the stigma of cowardice as in America. Perhaps this can be traced back to the tenth century. It was a disgrace to go to Valhalla from a sickbed. The Vikings built Temple Gardens into which they jumped when they had no chance to die on the battlefield.

In Gastrikland, Sweden, there is still in existence such a garden. Every year a surprising number of people are lured to this ancient place. The hollow below is very deep so that a jump is truly effective. — A. LARSON

DEAR ANN: Please don't lecture me; just tell me what to do. For two years I went with what I thought was the most wonderful man in the world. We were planning to marry when his divorce came through.

We were very much in love when I became pregnant. Then his love turned to hate. Our daughter is now seven months old and he treats us like dirt. He says he'll support us so long as we stay with him but I don't think I can stand it much longer. He's a heavy drinker and he's mean when he drinks.

I'm a nurse and can get work any time, but I don't want to leave the baby in someone else's care. He calls me a scheming witch and says it's my fault that things are such a mess. I hate the sight of him, but I feel trapped. What is the sensible thing to do?

—MURPH

DEAR MURPH: Move out of that snake pit and go to work. Not only will it give you a fresh outlook but it will be better for the baby. It's no good for a child to be penned up night and day with a miserable, unhappy mother who hates the man she's living with.

In some states the father has financial responsibilities, whether he's married to the mother or not. Check with a lawyer, and get packing.

DEAR ANN: Should a 12-year-old boy be forced to eat when he has a headache or has just been scolded by his father? Please answer in the paper. This is important. — BUZZIE

DEAR BUZZIE: No person (regardless of age) should be forced to eat at any time, for whatever reason.

When a person is emotionally upset the stomach is in no condition to receive food. Children who are forced to eat sometimes develop stomach trouble as well as a life-long loathing for certain food.

Confidential to NEED HIM: You need this old goat like Custer needed more Indians. Where's your mother anyway?

County Action Is Urged In City Water Rate Boost

Commissioner John J. Rowan, president of the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday said that some action should be taken by the board pertaining to the announced increase of water rates by the City of Cumberland to outlying areas such as LaVale and Cresaptown.

Rowan said that perhaps a hearing before the Public Service Commission could be arranged. In any event, he has asked Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, to check into the legal questions involved.

Rowan said he feels that an increase may be warranted but not 48 per cent, as had been reported.

Also in line with the dispute between the City of Cumberland and the County Board there was a discussion yesterday of the rental which the city has asked the county for use of the Health Department quarters in the Public Safety Building.

Commissioner Rowan said perhaps the county should charge rent for the use of the Cumberland Public Library building. The county has given the library the use of the building for many years free of any rental.

Mr., Mrs. Robert D. Smith Observe Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Smith observed their golden wedding anniversary quietly, with no formal celebration, yesterday at their home, 1105 Michigan Avenue.

The former Miss Maude L. McCullough, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. McCullough of Hancock, became the bride of Mr. Smith, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Smith, also of Hancock, August 25, 1909. The wedding ceremony was solemnized in the Barton Hotel, Hancock, with Rev. James S. Webster, a Presbyterian minister, officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are the parents of one daughter, Mrs. Ethel S. Martin; and have two grandsons, all of Long Island, New York.

Board Gets Offer To Rent Space

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has an opportunity to rent two offices on the third floor of the Court House to the State Department of Forests and Parks for an annual rental of $2,700.

It was brought out that the state agency has the money in its budget for rental of office quarters for the district forester, William Johnson, and his office force.

The commissioners discussed the use of the office now occupied by the Liquor Board and shifting that office to the second floor quarters used as a lawyers' conference room and chambers for visiting judges. This plan was dropped after Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris explained that the conference room and visiting judges' chambers were a necessity.

The forestry agency has used one large office room adjacent to the Liquor Board office for many years free of charge. Under the state agency's proposal the two rooms would be utilized and the county would be paid $2,700 annual rental.

Members of the board would like to rent the two rooms as it would add to revenues of the county. The financial burden on the county is heavy and any additional funds would alleviate the situation to some extent, the board reported.

Several ideas on where the Liquor Board could be relocated were discussed. Space in the Union Street County building was mentioned. Also some space elsewhere in the Court House may be provided.

Road Report Is Given To County Board

Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, yesterday submitted to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners a report for work his department has completed on roads, bridges and miscellaneous items during the months of April, May and June.

A total of $96,102.17 was spent during the three months. Administrative costs were $3,580.32; roads, $88,257.96; shop work, $4,178.83; snow and ice removal, $37.04 and donable food distribution costs, $48.02.

A total of $4,047.81 was spent in District No. 1—Orleans; District 2—Oldtown, $3,092.86; District 3—Flintstone, $8,236.67; District 4—Cumberland, $20.38; District 5—Wills Creek section, $1,702.15; District 6—Potomac River area, $2,101.03; District 7—Rawlings, $4,040.20; District 8—Westernport, $1,497.29; District 9—Barton, $2,524.69; District 10—Frostburg, $2,327.67; District 12—Frostburg, $701.58; District 13—Mt. Savage, $19,171.91; District 15—Lonaconing (east), $1,366.87.

Deep Creek Lake Park Is Popular Recreation Area

Deep Creek Lake State Park, the newest addition to recreation in Garrett County, is fast becoming popular for area comfort and pleasure seekers.

The park, at one time a game refuge, officially opened July 1 of this year and has been accommodating an average of 2,500 to 3,000 persons on Sunday.

On the Fourth of July, several days after its opening, the park handled over 4,000 persons and its parking area was filled with 450 cars. Eleven hundred were said to have used the beach, with 3,000 reported to have utilized the park's general facilities.

Located near a Garrett County road, which can be reached from U.S. Route 219, the recreational area comprises 150 acres. The entire layout extends over 1,764 acres, some of which is being worked on to stretch the park's bounds.

According to the office of the park superintendent, Ward Ashby, the park contains a camping area, able to accommodate 55 families; a bath house; a mile of shoreline, and 154 picnic tables and fireplaces. A small comfort station is located in the picnic area. Laundry facilities are available.

Included among the frequent patrons of the area's latest pleasure spot are numerous fishermen taking advantage of its stocked waters.

Parking conveniences are plentiful. There are seven parking sections in which to park cars, with two landings to each parking area. The usual Sunday automobile capacity is about 350. However, that number fluctuates depending, of course, on the weather. The weekend average is 500.

A fee of 50 cents is charged for parking on weekends and holidays, and camp sites can be rented for a weekly rate of $7 or a nightly rate of $1.25. A portion of the fee is used to defray the gas expense incurred from water heating.

The area is equipped with hot and cold running showers. The bath house also contains showers for men and women.

Stretching along the water body, used for both swimming and fishing, is an 800-foot beach. The beach section is undergoing scattered improvement work.

Employed by the park are seven general maintenance men and two lifeguards, who are on duty the entire time the park is open.

The area is open every day of the week from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. Campers may arrange their own site, set it up themselves, and are checked in after settling.

Catering to patrons from the Cumberland area and the Baltimore-Washington area, in addition to the many Pennsylvania users, the park is practically filled during open hours, particularly the camping sites.

Superintendent Ashby said that money collected in the various fees at the park is split between county and state. Fifteen per cent of the total collected is turned over to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners with the remainder going to the general state fund for parks.

Wolfe Is Resigning As Custodian Here

Ross Wolfe, 430 North Mechanic Street, wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that he is resigning as custodian at the Union Street County Office Building.

He said the condition of his health made it necessary to give up the job.

There are four custodians at the Union Street building and the commissioners feel that the force is too large. They are checking into the insurance on the structure to determine if the county would have to replace Wolfe.

Board Gets Offer To Rent Space

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners has an opportunity to rent two offices on the third floor of the Court House to the State Department of Forests and Parks for an annual rental of $2,700.

It was brought out that the state agency has the money in its budget for rental of office quarters for the district forester, William Johnson, and his office force.

The commissioners discussed the use of the office now occupied by the Liquor Board and shifting that office to the second floor quarters used as a lawyers' conference room and chambers for visiting judges. This plan was dropped after Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris explained that the conference room and visiting judges' chambers were a necessity.

The forestry agency has used one large office room adjacent to the Liquor Board office for many years free of charge. Under the state agency's proposal the two rooms would be utilized and the county would be paid $2,700 annual rental.

Members of the board would like to rent the two rooms as it would add to revenues of the county. The financial burden on the county is heavy and any additional funds would alleviate the situation to some extent, the board reported.

Several ideas on where the Liquor Board could be relocated were discussed. Space in the Union Street County building was mentioned. Also some space elsewhere in the Court House may be provided.

Deep Creek Lake Park Is Popular Recreation Area

Deep Creek Lake State Park, the newest addition to recreation in Garrett County, is fast becoming popular for area comfort and pleasure seekers.

The park, at one time a game refuge, officially opened July 1 of this year and has been accommodating an average of 2,500 to 3,000 persons on Sunday.

On the Fourth of July, several days after its opening, the park handled over 4,000 persons and its parking area was filled with 450 cars. Eleven hundred were said to have used the beach, with 3,000 reported to have utilized the park's general facilities.

Located near a Garrett County road, which can be reached from U.S. Route 219, the recreational area comprises 150 acres. The entire layout extends over 1,764 acres, some of which is being worked on to stretch the park's bounds.

According to the office of the park superintendent, Ward Ashby, the park contains a camping area, able to accommodate 55 families; a bath house; a mile of shoreline, and 154 picnic tables and fireplaces. A small comfort station is located in the picnic area. Laundry facilities are available.

Included among the frequent patrons of the area's latest pleasure spot are numerous fishermen taking advantage of its stocked waters.

Parking conveniences are plentiful. There are seven parking sections in which to park cars, with two landings to each parking area. The usual Sunday automobile capacity is about 350. However, that number fluctuates depending, of course, on the weather. The weekend average is 500.

A fee of 50 cents is charged for parking on weekends and holidays, and camp sites can be rented for a weekly rate of $7 or a nightly rate of $1.25. A portion of the fee is used to defray the gas expense incurred from water heating.

The area is equipped with hot and cold running showers. The bath house also contains showers for men and women.

Stretching along the water body, used for both swimming and fishing, is an 800-foot beach. The beach section is undergoing scattered improvement work.

Employed by the park are seven general maintenance men and two lifeguards, who are on duty the entire time the park is open.

The area is open every day of the week from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. Campers may arrange their own site, set it up themselves, and are checked in after settling.

Catering to patrons from the Cumberland area and the Baltimore-Washington area, in addition to the many Pennsylvania users, the park is practically filled during open hours, particularly the camping sites.

Superintendent Ashby said that money collected in the various fees at the park is split between county and state. Fifteen per cent of the total collected is turned over to the Garrett County Board of Commissioners with the remainder going to the general state fund for parks.

Wolfe Is Resigning As Custodian Here

Ross Wolfe, 430 North Mechanic Street, wrote the Allegany County Board of Commissioners that he is resigning as custodian at the Union Street County Office Building.

He said the condition of his health made it necessary to give up the job.

There are four custodians at the Union Street building and the commissioners feel that the force is too large. They are checking into the insurance on the structure to determine if the county would have to replace Wolfe.

Market Stages Modest Recovery; Volume Rises

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored a modest recovery on somewhat increased activity with electronic, steel, chemical and aircraft shares featuring.

Volume increased to 1,960,000 shares from 1,860,000 shares Monday, the lowest turnover since March last year.

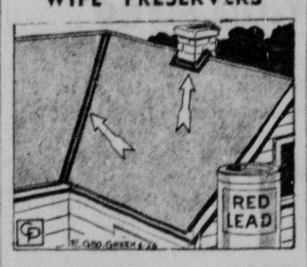

Demand for industrials appeared after an uncertain start, and was attributed largely to technical factors since there was nothing of substantial influence in the day's news.

A few issues responded to individual corporate developments. Zenith ran up 3 points on a dividend increase and held half the gain. Martin Co. recovered nearly 2 points of the loss suffered Monday after announcement of a contract cancellation. The company said Tuesday the cancellation will have little effect on earnings. International Nickel lost 1½ points after the company agreed to cancel deliveries of nickel to the U. S. government stockpile which now has a surplus.

Gains in electronics ran to more than 3 points in Litton, nearly 3 in Motorola, 2 or more in Consolidated Electronics and Texas Instruments.

Market Stages Modest Recovery; Volume Rises

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market scored a modest recovery on somewhat increased activity with electronic, steel, chemical and aircraft shares featuring.

Volume increased to 1,960,000 shares from 1,860,000 shares Monday, the lowest turnover since March last year.

Demand for industrials appeared after an uncertain start, and was attributed largely to technical factors since there was nothing of substantial influence in the day's news.

A few issues responded to individual corporate developments. Zenith ran up 3 points on a dividend increase and held half the gain. Martin Co. recovered nearly 2 points of the loss suffered Monday after announcement of a contract cancellation. The company said Tuesday the cancellation will have little effect on earnings. International Nickel lost 1½ points after the company agreed to cancel deliveries of nickel to the U. S. government stockpile which now has a surplus.

Gains in electronics ran to more than 3 points in Litton, nearly 3 in Motorola, 2 or more in Consolidated Electronics and Texas Instruments.

Valentino Memorial

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) —About 50 persons turned out Monday for memorial services marking the 33rd anniversary of the death of silent screen idol Rudolph Valentino.

Missing once again from the turnout was the mysterious "lady in black," who for 28 years stole quietly to Valentino's crypt with a bouquet of red roses on the anniversary before quitting her annual pilgrimage several years ago.

Bishop Wicke Discusses African Crisis

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (UPI) — Rev. Lloyd C. Wicke, Methodist bishop of the Pittsburgh area, told some 240 delegates to the first Appalachian Missionary Conference Tuesday "the crisis in Africa requires only a triggering event to cause an explosion."

Speaking on his recent three month trip to Africa, Bishop Wicke told the group "the masses are awakened, seeking relief and demanding independence, but colonial powers are dedicated to keeping the African outside the charmed circle of ownership and confined to slave labor status."

The bishop predicted the present conflict would "produce a leader who will arise to resolve it in a manner that may totally overwhelm the white man who represents only five per cent of the population."

Wicke's talk was part of a four-day meeting of delegates from the 10 Methodist conferences of Erie, Pittsburgh, West Virginia, Washington, eastern North Carolina, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland and Lexington.

West Virginia Needy Obtain Greater Aid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Department of Public Assistance said Tuesday public assistance payments to West Virginia's needy rose 2.2 per cent last month over June.

The department said $3,481,027 was paid out last month compared to $3,405,544 in the previous month.

Aid to dependent children remained the highest category of assistance offered by the department while the largest category increase went in old-age assistance awards. The largest decrease was in money paid out for burials.

8. Veterans should take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long for a veteran's first monthly GI check to reach him. Before VA may make a payment, it must receive a certification signed by the veteran and his school, stating that he has been in class all month. The law allows VA 20 days after receipt of certification to get checks in the mail.

9. The last point, Mr. Quinn said, is that veterans should not write or send applications to VA headquarters in Washington. To do so, he said, merely delays matters. The operating offices of VA are the regional offices and the Washington headquarters would merely forward the letter or application to the regional office having jurisdiction.

County To Seek Bids On Lots

Sealed bids on a number of unimproved lots in Election Districts 4 and 6 will be received by James G. Stevenson, clerk to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, until 10:30 a. m. Tuesday, September 15.

Streets on which these lots are situated include Elm Street, Ford Street, James Street, Lamont and Cresap, Maryland Avenue, Vine Street, Arnett Terrace, Braddock Road, Brookfield Avenue, Gephart Drive, Greene and Washington streets, collectively and individually, and Young's Terrace.

All of these lots were acquired by the county commissioners at tax sales and the unimproved lots are considered surplus to the needs of the county.

Senate Approves Coal Research Commission

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday approved and sent to the House a compromise bill to set up a Federal Coal Research and Development Commission by three commissioners.

The compromise was worked out by a House-Senate conference committee between the slightly-differing bills passed by each house.

Bishop Wicke Discusses African Crisis

BUCKHANNON, W. Va. (UPI) — Rev. Lloyd C. Wicke, Methodist bishop of the Pittsburgh area, told some 240 delegates to the first Appalachian Missionary Conference Tuesday "the crisis in Africa requires only a triggering event to cause an explosion."

Speaking on his recent three month trip to Africa, Bishop Wicke told the group "the masses are awakened, seeking relief and demanding independence, but colonial powers are dedicated to keeping the African outside the charmed circle of ownership and confined to slave labor status."

The bishop predicted the present conflict would "produce a leader who will arise to resolve it in a manner that may totally overwhelm the white man who represents only five per cent of the population."

Wicke's talk was part of a four-day meeting of delegates from the 10 Methodist conferences of Erie, Pittsburgh, West Virginia, Washington, eastern North Carolina, Delaware, Kentucky, Maryland and Lexington.

West Virginia Needy Obtain Greater Aid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The Department of Public Assistance said Tuesday public assistance payments to West Virginia's needy rose 2.2 per cent last month over June.

The department said $3,481,027 was paid out last month compared to $3,406,544 in the previous month.

Aid to dependent children remained the highest category of assistance offered by the department while the largest category increase went in old-age assistance awards. The largest decrease was in money paid out for burials.

8. Veterans should take along enough money of their own to tide them over the first two months of training. It takes that long for a veteran's first monthly GI check to reach him. Before VA may make a payment, it must receive a certification signed by the veteran and his school, stating that he has been in class all month. The law allows VA 20 days after receipt of certification to get checks in the mail.

9. The last point, Mr. Quinn said, is that veterans should not write or send applications to VA headquarters in Washington. To do so, he said, merely delays matters. The operating offices of VA are the regional offices and the Washington headquarters would merely forward the letter or application to the regional office having jurisdiction.

13 West Virginia Counties Yield 53 Million Tons Coal

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Mines Department said Tuesday that 13 West Virginia counties produced some 53,000,000 tons of coal during the first six months of 1959.

McDowell County led the way with 8,949,278 tons. Logan County was second with 8,337,370 tons, followed by Wyoming County at 5,115,847.

The 10 other counties producing one million or more tons during the period included:

Marion 5,045,479, Kanawha 4,527,539, Monongalia 3,869,380, Raleigh 3,372,294, Mingo 3,231,414, Boone 2,931,231 Harrison 2306,928, Fayette 2,211,031, Nicholas 1,982,410 and Barbour 1,287,295.

The department said 32 of the state's 55 counties produced coal during the Jan. 1-June 30 period totaling 58,332,153.

The biggest monthly production came in May when 10,652,039 tons were mined. The lowest was in February when production totalled 8,662,421.

The Spenders Always Win

It is impossible, no matter how hard one tries, to keep up with government spenders. Commerce Clearing House, a leading tax statistical source, recently accumulated data on the average American taxpayer and came up with the interesting, although depressing, formula that at 29 years of age he has a $47,221 tax bill to pay during his remaining 36 years of working life.

This bill has been apportioned by the CCH among various government collection agencies as follows:

Federal income tax, $20,870; real property, $7,710; social security, $7,248; sales taxes, $3,107; gasoline taxes, $1,905; tobacco taxes, $1,464; automobile excise taxes, $1,428, and personal property, $720. A scattering of license fees and miscellaneous excise taxes completes the total.

This is the picture as of today. Tomorrow, however, will be a different story. At the present rate of increases in taxes, this same average American will look back 10 years hence with envy at the "small" bill CCH presented to him in 1959. An analysis of each major category of taxation finds some already destined for higher percentage points and others threateningly close to increased rates.

About the only category not now in the stages of being increased is the federal income tax, and continued deficit spending will focus attention on it before long.

Only $47,221 more to pay in a taxable lifetime? This sounds almost like a political slogan, but there is a noticeable lack of political candidates willing to stake their future in office on this promise.

'For A While, I Got The Same Reaction'

U.S. Steel Got 40-Foot Channel Up Delaware At Taxpayers' Expense

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A new chapter has just been revealed in the operation of the giant U. S. Steel Corporation, which while netting a record quarter of a billion dollars profit in the first six months of the year, has refused to pay proportionate school taxes in Morrisville, Pa., and tried to oppose more taxes for school purposes in Alabama.

The new chapter pertains to the manner in which U. S. Steel got Uncle Sam to dredge the Delaware River to a 40-foot depth up to the Fairless Plant at Morrisville. Army Engineers testified that one company only would benefit by the deepened channel—U. S. Steel. Various Congressmen opposed this gift of $91,738,000 to U. S. Steel. Among the most vigorous of all its opponents was Congressman Mike Kirwan, Democrat of Ohio. He made speech after speech opposing the giveaway.

Then suddenly Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel and the man for whom the Fairless Plant is named, came to see Mike Kirwan. Suddenly also Michael J. Kirwan, Jr., was given a job with U. S. Steel. After that Congressman Kirwan's opposition melted. He gave his blessing to the $91,738,000 for U. S. Steel.

Significantly, when U. S. Steel wanted to dredge the Orinoco River in Venezuela in order to take ore boats upstream, it paid for the dredging itself. But when it came to dredging an American river, the Delaware, U. S. Steel got the Eisenhower Administration—with strong though related support from one key Democratic Congressman — to pay for it.

Note: Young Mike Kirwan is still working for U. S. Steel and has had some nice raises. He says he plans to stay there all his life.

The Congressman Orates

Study of the Congressional committee hearings regarding U. S. Steel shows that no Congressman in years has reversed himself so quickly as Mike Kirwan, Sr., on any project. Kirwan is chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee dealing with public works. His support was all-important. Here is how he battled against the U. S. Steel project on the House floor when the 1956 public works appropriation bill was under consideration.

"It is a long time since the Delaware River, especially the upper part between Trenton and Philadelphia, has been before this House," said Kirwan. "I think the first mention of it was some 180 years ago when George Washington asked for some money to keep the Continental Army going.

"Now let us march on from there. This project that we are talking about never had a hearing before the committee. It was tacked on as a rider last year. We gave that steel plant $450,000,000 in tax amortization in order to build the plant.

"One of their subsidiaries is building four steel boats in Japan with cheap labor. Each one of those boats will carry two trainloads of ore, eliminating a great many laboring men. It will be flying under a foreign flag with cheap labor.

"Now that is what we have got here," continued Congressman Kirwan. "Those very boats built overseas will be going down the Delaware River. For 20 or 30 years, the Delaware River had a depth of 25 feet and nobody used it. The river filled up to where they had only eight feet.

Kirwan Reverses

"The Army Engineers testified that the only one company who will get 100 per cent benefit out of this is the United States Steel Corp. Up on the St. Lawrence River we are only paying $100,000,000 to complete a seaway 105 miles long. They have 65 sea ports on the great lakes and they have 59,000,000 tons awaiting shipment. But on this waterway, they will only ship 30,000,000 tons and it is costing as much money to construct that 30 or 40 miles of channel as it is costing to build the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"The only one that has made any commitment that they will ship on this 40-foot channel is the United States Steel Corp.

"I am only asking you to be true to our laboring men and to the men that crossed that river 180 years ago when they would not give any quarter," concluded Congressman Kirwan. "They proved to the Congress that they were worthy. So, let the Congress prove to the country that they are not going to give them that $100,000,000 to do something that is not worth it.

"I am thankful that you have given me this time. I hope that this amendment is voted down."

The House of Representatives responded overwhelmingly to Kirwan's appeal and voted down the giveaway to U. S. Steel.

However, on June 1, 1957, young Mike Kirwan went to work for U. S. Steel. Before the end of June, U. S. Steel had received House approval for its 40-foot channel, costing the taxpayers $91,738,000.

Must Congressmen Do Contributors' Bidding?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When the labor union bosses raise money to contribute to the campaigns of members of Congress, must those who are elected disregard their personal convictions on the merits of proposed laws and do the bidding of the groups that furnished the funds?

This issue seems to have been projected by James B. Carey, one of the top leaders of the AFL-CIO, whose recent letter to members of Congress has caused a stir. He expresses gratitude to those who voted as labor wanted and wrote in bitter sarcasm to those who, having accepted campaign contributions from labor interests, voted against their wishes on the Landrum-Griffin Bill.

Mr. Carey threatens reprisals at the ballot box and apparently the labor unions will withhold contributions next time from those members of Congress who refused to consider a campaign contribution as a bribe.

There is nothing unusual about Mr. Carey's letters to members of Congress. He should not be criticized as being alone in his viewpoint. For what he has written is in line with CIO policy for years. Indeed, John L. Lewis, while active in the CIO, was characteristically frank about the meaning of a contribution from laboring men to the campaigns of candidates for office.

When the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, having accepted big contributions from labor unions for his 1936 campaign, said in the midst of a strike in 1937 something that the labor union leaders didn't like, Mr. Lewis declared publicly:

"It ill behooves one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine imparitality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

In a biography of Mr. Lewis written by Saul D. Alinsky and published in 1949 by G. P. Putnam & Sons, the author tells of an interview with the labor leader during the Roosevelt regime. Mr. Lewis is quoted as having said:

"Everybody says I want my pound of flesh, that I gave Mr. Roosevelt $500,000 for his 1936 campaign, and I want quid pro quo. The United Mine Workers and the CIO have paid cash on the barrel for every piece of legislation that we have gotten.

"We have the Wagner Act. The Wagner Act cost us many dollars in contributions which the United Mine Workers have made to the Roosevelt Administration with the explicit understanding of a quid proquo for labor. These contributions far exceed the notions held by the general public or the press. Is anyone fool enough to believe for one instant that we gave this money to Roosevelt because we were spellbound by his voice? It is common knowledge that we spent approximately three quarters of a million dollars in the 1936 campaign. And you might be interested to know that the $500,000 direct contribution wasn't my price, but was the figure named by the White House, and I was given approximately forty-eight hours to get that money.

"Certainly there was a quid pro quo—the right for labor to organize. But there was more than that. The sums we spent in 1936 were not only cash contributions that were made to the Democratic Party but also were money expended in terms of salaries for organizers and other personnel who worked full time organizing and electioneering for Roosevelt. Radio time purchased, billboards, hand bills, literature and all other paraphernalia that are part and parcel of the process of being elected President of the United States didn't come gratis."

The same interview reveals that in 1938 when the tensions between Mr. Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt had eased off somewhat and the Democratic President was trying in primary contests to "purge" certain Southern Democratic Senators who happened also to be anti-labor, the United Mine Workers chief rendered a helping hand. Again Mr. Lewis is quoted in the Saul Alinsky book as follows:

"Where did the money come from that Franklin D. Roosevelt siphoned into these Southern states to try to bolster up the fight against the anti-New Deal Senators? Where did the money come from? I'll tell you where it came from. Right here, from the coffers of the United Mine Workers of America. It came by request of the President of the United States through one of his trusted aides. You tell this to the President, and if he questions it, and I'm certain that he will not, you may inform the President that I am perfectly willing to name names and sums, chapter and verse, to satisfy any slight amnesia that there might be on this particular issue.

"You ask me for gratitude in terms of an administration that we have literally poured our life's blood into supporting! You wonder that I do not express the feeling that one should have for a great champion of labor. I say that labor's champion has to a large extent here been a bought and paid for proposition. There is nothing we should be grateful for when we paid cash on the barrelhead at the price demanded for it."

So the philosophy of the money-raisers in labor's ranks hasn't changed much in the last 20 years since John L. Lewis spoke. In the 1958 Congressional campaign when the labor unions boasted that a majority of the House of Representatives was elected through their help, the Federal records show a relatively small sum was contributed. Big amounts were, however, donated largely to state organizations which do not come under the Federal laws requiring the reporting of contributions. It is estimated that labor raised approximately $10,000,000. Much of it was spent to uphold laws compelling workers to forego their civil rights and join unions.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Fundamental Changes

The British Empire has gone out of existence. Its place has been taken, to an extent, by the Commonwealth which is not an organization but an ideal, not a political entity but a moral relationship. Some members of the Commonwealth, such as Canada, recognize the institution of the British Crown; some, such as India, do not. Some members of the Commonwealth are totally independent of Great Britain and yet are so closely affiliated that there is an unmistakable oneness. The Brtiish Empire was an institution formed on tradition and affection, not on law. Such institutions last long in history.

Great Britain is a member of NATO but not all Commonwealth countries are concerned with NATO's problems. Some Commonwealth countries are either by geography or as a result of developments during World War II closer to the United States than they are to Great Britain. This is inevitably true of Canada which is closely related to the United States economically and it is also true of Australia and New Zealand which are, as Professor Carol E. Baumann of the University of Wisconsin says, "more dependent for their national security on the United States than on Britain." Two wars and their economic aftermaths deprived Great Britain of her navy, which had been, since the Spanish Armada was sunk, mistress of the seas.

How the Commonwealth will manage to hold together during the next decade is difficult to foretell. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Malaya and Ghana pursue their own foreign and defense policies. Undoubtedly whatever influence Great Britain exercises will be moral, not an expression of power.

The advantages of belonging to the Commonwealth, however, are not small. "Imperial Preference," which gives nations in the Commonwealth an economic priority, is not slight. There are other financial benefits, particularly for countries in the sterling area and those whose banking systems are linked to London. How long "Imperial Preference" will continue no one can prophesy. Such countries as Canada and Australia are becoming competitors of Great Britain and find "Imperial Preference" not altogether a benefit. For instance, if Canada had to choose between "Imperial Preference," and a mutuality of projects with the United States, it would be difficult to make the choice. Ultimately, Canada's economy must be tied into that of the United States even if some Canadians now resent the suggestion.

On the other hand, the policy of the United States is now fixed beyond change that Great Britain, which would not have been able to defend herself alone in either World War I or World War II, must be defended by the United States. The American Foreign Aid Policy has been geared to benefit Great Britain most. While no law has been passed to that effect and while many Americans object to such an assumption and whereas it is correct to say that large sections of the British Labour Party do not relish Great Britain's dependence upon the United States, it is also true that Great Britain is dependent upon the United States and that this country accepts that responsibility.

Great Britain did not join the European Common Market because of its ties to the Commonwealth and to the United States. It cannot be established that it would have been to Great Britain's advantage to join this group of European nations, but it can be established that it would have been advantageous to the European Common Market to have British participation and it must be assumed that ultimately a way will have to be found to include Great Britain or an economic race between Great Britain and West Germany will disturb the West.

It definitely would be harmful to the United States to become a member of this body and to be tied into its tariff reductions to a point that low-wage goods could come into this country more freely than such goods enter today.

As a matter of fact, some American labor unions which have hitherto pursued a policy of free trade are now reconsidering that policy in view of the fierce competition their goods encounter in American markets from goods of low-wage countries. They must now recognize that low wages do not represent inefficient or non-competitive production; they could destroy markets for American labor even in the United States. The textile and garment workers are the principal sufferers, but the automobile workers will sooner or later realize what happens to labor when imports of automobiles exceed exports. Capital does not suffer because it can be exported to foreign countries and is actually being exported. The returns on such exports do nothing for the American worker.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

One little-known aspect of the forthcoming exchange of visits by President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Khrushchev, has to do with Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen, formerly U. S. ambassador to Moscow and perhaps America's outstanding expert on the Soviet Union.

Bohlen has been advocating such exchanges as this for quite a while. It is his firm and publicly expressed belief that such exchanges can be the instrument for easing the cold war and ultimately showing the way to peace.

Bohlen's position may not have played a direct part in Mr. Eisenhower's decision, but there are around the President a number of advisers who respect Bohlen's views, and who probably had them in mind when the visit exchange matter was raised by the President.

Incidentally, Bohlen is now all set to become a special assistant to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

By Ormund Powers

(Jim Bishop is on vacation. Today's column is written by Ormund Powers of the Orlando Sentinel in Florida.)

Ed was a fast-talking man who lipped his cigarets until they were soggy, then let them dangle from the corner of his mouth; a man who drank wine when he was on the wagon and had a couple of wives, more or less, and four or five children. He was never sure.

Like most barroom creatures he was soft and white, but you felt sorry for him because he had had so much hard luck and you wanted life to be easy for him, but something always went sour. When I first met Ed he was on the straight and narrow for the first time in years. He had just moved South with his Wife No. 2 and three kids—one hers, one his and the baby which was theirs. Somewhere behind him was another wife and a couple or so offspring.

Ed did okay for only a few weeks then he resumed his downhill plunge. He was on a fast toboggan in the snows of failure. He took to more drink, to petty thieving, to licentiousness of various kinds. He took to spending his paycheck before his wife could get her hands on it, to staying out late and to other infractions of the marriage code.

He switched jobs several times. No one ever knew how it happened or why, but people felt sorry for him even after he had put the hooks into them. He disappeared for three days in Atlanta, a likely place to disappear in. Then a few weeks later he got loaded up on wine, tried to steal a car and the law picked him up and tossed him in a cold cell in the county jail.

You could have papered a room with the bad checks which turned up all over town. And he had charge accounts he couldn't begin to handle. His young and harassed wife took poison one day in despair. She ended up in the hospital and the neighbors tried to care for the kids.

Ed was comfortable in his cell. I took coffee to him in a paper cup one day and he cried. He didn't have his teeth in at the time and he made a funny sight crying behind bars with no teeth and his wife a near suicide. A fellow who was with me got sick to his stomach on the court house lawn because of what he called the sordidness of it all.

Well Ed didn't have a friend by that time and when the judge called him he pleaded guilty and got six months on the road gang for his drunken driving of a car he didn't own with a license that had expired.

Ed wrote me from the road camp. He had landed a soft job as trusty to the captain. Soft jobs were Ed's meat. The captain, he said, used to stop his truck somewhere along the country road and drop in to see a woman whose husband worked at the road camp. And while the captain was courting the woman, Ed and the other trusties fooled around at the country store nearby, drinking soda pop, eating crackers and keeping quiet about the captain.

At Christmas, Ed told me, they drank shaving lotion in Coke and it was fine. He could drink enough after-shave lotion to get loaded. Ed was beginning to believe he had been framed. His wife was out of the hospital, had forgiven him, and was taking a bus North on money contributed by the neighbors. She loved him, she said, and hoped he would join her soon so they could start a new life.

When Ed got out, less puffy and browner, but no better off so far as vino and bad checks were concerned, he called me long distance. He wanted a handout or a job, but he was into me for $175 and I told him I sure was sorry but I was stony. He thanked me just the same and said he was heading North and would start paying me soon.

A few weeks later I ran into him on the street. He was wearing a clean white shirt and a boozy breath. He smiled and held out his hand. When I took mine away I found a $5 bill in it. Ed was a good salesman. He gave me the five knowing that if he wanted another $100 right then I'd have wanted to give it to him. But he didn't, and I didn't have it anyway.

I've never seen Ed since that time years ago. He owes me 170 bucks. At four pct. interest that would earn me $6.80 a year. I hope he's being careful with my dough . . .

Swimming And Colds; Botulism And Muktuk

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Swimming and colds do not mix; the combination is hard on the sinuses and ears, especially when diving and swimming under water. The increased pressure drives infected secretions into the sinus cavities and up into the eustachian tubes of the ears.

When the sinuses are involved, the head feels stuffy on getting out of the water. Sometimes the trapped water gushes out of the nose on bending over. Hours later, the membranes swell, blockage occurs, and pain is felt over the involved sinus.

It has been said there are more Kodiak bears than physicians in Alaska. This may be true but practitioners in our largest state have started a medical journal, to pool their knowledge and contribute to progress in medical science. The first issue of Alaska Medicine contained an article on botulism (food poisoning) among Eskimos that was traced to the eating of muktuk, or white whale blubber stored in seal oil.

Ataque is an everyday phenomenon among Puerto Ricans in their homeland, but presents a problem in diagnosis to our physicians, according to Dr. William J. Grace, who wrote about it in New York Medicine. It is a hysterical reaction that occurs at funerals or following bad news such as the death of a loved one or on hearing the news that a child must be hospitalized. The individual lets out a cry or scream and falls to the ground. Some victims stare into space and remain unresponsive. Others move their arms and legs; still others beat the floor or another person with their fists or head.

OLD SOL

R. W. writes: Is there a vaccination against the sun? Every year when summer starts my face and neck break out and stay that way until cold weather returns.

REPLY

No, but there are numerous protective salves and lotions that screen out the sun's rays. In addition, the anti-malarial drugs, Aralen and Plaquenil, may help by forming a chemical screen just beneath the outer surface of the skin. The use of an anti histaminic also may help. But despite the value of these ointments and drugs, most people in your fix rely on protective clothing, including wide brimmed hats, parasols, and walking on the shady side of the street.

NO LENS BANK

J. W. writes: Are lenses available from eye banks for replacement after a cataract operation?

REPLY

No, because methods have not been devised to graft a human lens into the eye of another person. Many structures cannot be transplanted because the body regards them as foreign material and does not allow them to take root.

PNEUMONIA TYPES

M. R. writes: What is staphylococcal pneumonia?

REPLY

A variety of microorganisms are capable of invading the lungs and causing pneumonia. The staphylococcus is one and the disease may be serious if the germs do not respond to penicillin or other antibiotic. At present, the virus is the most common cause of pneumonia, and 30 years ago the pneumococcus had its day.

NO EFFECT

E. R. writes: What would happen if a person with low blood pressure took high blood pressure medicine?

REPLY

Nothing. Most of the drugs have little or no effect on normal or low readings. Futhermore, the higher the blood pressure, the more marked the response. In other words, these drugs counteract the cause of high blood pressure and will not work in normal or low tension because the cause does not exist.

TOMORROW: The migraine problem.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Joe E. Lewis, night club favorite, discovered that a race horse had been named after his long-time piano accompanist, Austin Mack. "You know what a sentimental cuss I am," sighed Lewis. "I made a bet on good old Austin Mack. And to my amazement, out of nowhere, he came in strong to finish last!"

A cute young stenog in the Wall Street sector confided to Broker John Straley that her roommate was causing her some concern. "She's convinced herself," said the stenog, "that she's an alarm clock! And what's worse, sometimes when I set her so I can get down here in time for the opening of the market, she doesn't ring until it's too late!"

A New Englander wired a fashionable Florida resort hotel for "something nice and relaxing at about $20 a day." The return telegram read, "Try warm milk."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Picks and shovels of Italian archaeologists are today uncovering a colosseum built by Roman Emperor Heliogabalus which was so big it would make some of our ball parks look like corner-lot carnival tents.

Heliogabalus was just a kid but he sure knew how to throw money around. He loved to stage mock naval battles on a lake of not water, but—gulp!—wine!

The wild animal fights staged by Helio-etc., were out of this world. And that's where he sent the battling beasts—more than 50 tigers being killed in a single bout!

The boy emperor changed his name almost as often as he did his toga. He was born Varius Avitus, was crowned emperor as Marcus Aurelius Antoninus, then called himself Heliogabalus. Quite a lot of aliases even for a juvenile delinquent like Helio!

Helio ate off solid gold plates and slept on a bed of silver. That's living a life of luxury the hard way.

Helio's reign was short but terrific. He was through when only 18 — however, he hadn't missed any of the high spots along the way.

It seems, to help pay for his extravagances, Helio cut his army officers' pay. The soldiers groused about it but he just couldn't see their point — until one day they showed it to him. It was at the end of a sword.

The Spenders Always Win

It is impossible, no matter how hard one tries, to keep up with government spenders. Commerce Clearing House, a leading tax statistical source, recently accumulated data on the average American taxpayer and came up with the interesting, although depressing, formula that at 29 years of age he has a $47,221 tax bill to pay during his remaining 36 years of working life.

This bill has been apportioned by the CCH among various government collection agencies as follows:

Federal income tax, $20,870; real property, $7,710; social security, $7,248; sales taxes, $3,107; gasoline taxes, $1,905; tobacco taxes, $1,464; automobile excise taxes, $1,428, and personal property, $720. A scattering of license fees and miscellaneous excise taxes completes the total.

This is the picture as of today. Tomorrow, however, will be a different story. At the present rate of increases in taxes, this same average American will look back 10 years hence with envy at the "small" bill CCH presented to him in 1959. An analysis of each major category of taxation finds some already destined for higher percentage points and others threateningly close to increased rates.

About the only category not now in the stages of being increased is the federal income tax, and continued deficit spending will focus attention on it before long.

Only $47,221 more to pay in a taxable lifetime? This sounds almost like a political slogan, but there is a noticeable lack of political candidates willing to stake their future in office on this promise.

These Days

Fundamental Changes

The British Empire has gone out of existence. Its place has been taken, to an extent, by the Commonwealth which is not an organization but an ideal, not a political entity but a moral relationship. Some members of the Commonwealth, such as Canada, recognize the institution of the British Crown; some, such as India, do not. Some members of the Commonwealth are totally independent of Great Britain and yet are so closely affiliated that there is an unmistakable oneness. The Brtiish Empire was an institution formed on tradition and affection, not on law. Such institutions last long in history.

Great Britain is a member of NATO but not all Commonwealth countries are concerned with NATO's problems. Some Commonwealth countries are either by geography or as a result of developments during World War II closer to the United States than they are to Great Britain. This is inevitably true of Canada which is closely related to the United States economically and it is also true of Australia and New Zealand which are, as Professor Carol E. Baumann of the University of Wisconsin says, "more dependent for their national security on the United States than on Britain." Two wars and their economic aftermaths deprived Great Britain of her navy, which had been, since the Spanish Armada was sunk, mistress of the seas.

How the Commonwealth will manage to hold together during the next decade is difficult to foretell. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Malaya and Ghana pursue their own foreign and defense policies. Undoubtedly whatever influence Great Britain exercises will be moral, not an expression of power.

The advantages of belonging to the Commonwealth, however, are not small. "Imperial Preference," which gives nations in the Commonwealth an economic priority, is not slight. There are other financial benefits, particularly for countries in the sterling area and those whose banking systems are linked to London. How long "Imperial Preference" will continue no one can prophesy. Such countries as Canada and Australia are becoming competitors of Great Britain and find "Imperial Preference" not altogether a benefit. For instance, if Canada had to choose between "Imperial Preference," and a mutuality of projects with the United States, it would be difficult to make the choice. Ultimately, Canada's economy must be tied into that of the United States even if some Canadians now resent the suggestion.

On the other hand, the policy of the United States is now fixed beyond change that Great Britain, which would not have been able to defend herself alone in either World War I or World War II, must be defended by the United States. The American Foreign Aid Policy has been geared to benefit Great Britain most. While no law has been passed to that effect and while many Americans object to such an assumption and whereas it is correct to say that large sections of the British Labour Party do not relish Great Britain's dependence upon the United States, it is also true that Great Britain is dependent upon the United States and that this country accepts that responsibility.

Great Britain did not join the European Common Market because of its ties to the Commonwealth and to the United States. It cannot be established that it would have been to Great Britain's advantage to join this group of European nations, but it can be established that it would have been advantageous to the European Common Market to have British participation and it must be assumed that ultimately a way will have to be found to include Great Britain or an economic race between Great Britain and West Germany will disturb the West.

It definitely would be harmful to the United States to become a member of this body and to be tied into its tariff reductions to a point that low-wage goods could come into this country more freely than such goods enter today.

As a matter of fact, some American labor unions which have hitherto pursued a policy of free trade are now reconsidering that policy in view of the fierce competition their goods encounter in American markets from goods of low-wage countries. They must now recognize that low wages do not represent inefficient or non-competitive production; they could destroy markets for American labor even in the United States. The textile and garment workers are the principal sufferers, but the automobile workers will sooner or later realize what happens to labor when imports of automobiles exceed exports. Capital does not suffer because it can be exported to foreign countries and is actually being exported. The returns on such exports do nothing for the American worker.

U.S. Steel Got 40-Foot Channel Up Delaware At Taxpayers' Expense

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — A new chapter has just been revealed in the operation of the giant U. S. Steel Corporation, which while netting a record quarter of a billion dollars profit in the first six months of the year, has refused to pay proportionate school taxes in Morrisville, Pa., and tried to oppose more taxes for school purposes in Alabama.

The new chapter pertains to the manner in which U. S. Steel got Uncle Sam to dredge the Delaware River to a 40-foot depth up to the Fairless Plant at Morrisville. Army Engineers testified that one company only would benefit by the deepened channel—U. S. Steel. Various Congressmen opposed this gift of $91,738,000 to U. S. Steel. Among the most vigorous of all its opponents was Congressman Mike Kirwan, Democrat of Ohio. He made speech after speech opposing the giveaway.

Then suddenly Ben Fairless, head of U. S. Steel and the man for whom the Fairless Plant is named, came to see Mike Kirwan. Suddenly also Michael J. Kirwan, Jr., was given a job with U. S. Steel. After that Congressman Kirwan's opposition melted. He gave his blessing to the $91,738,000 for U. S. Steel.

Significantly, when U. S. Steel wanted to dredge the Orinoco River in Venezuela in order to take ore boats upstream, it paid for the dredging itself. But when it came to dredging an American river, the Delaware, U. S. Steel got the Eisenhower Administration—with strong though related support from one key Democratic Congressman — to pay for it.

Note: Young Mike Kirwan is still working for U. S. Steel and has had some nice raises. He says he plans to stay there all his life.

The Congressman Orates

Study of the Congressional committee hearings regarding U. S. Steel shows that no Congressman in years has reversed himself so quickly as Mike Kirwan, Sr., on any project. Kirwan is chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee dealing with public works. His support was all-important. Here is how he battled against the U. S. Steel project on the House floor when the 1956 public works appropriation bill was under consideration.

"It is a long time since the Delaware River, especially the upper part between Trenton and Philadelphia, has been before this House," said Kirwan. "I think the first mention of it was some 180 years ago when George Washington asked for some money to keep the Continental Army going.

"Now let us march on from there. This project that we are talking about never had a hearing before the committee. It was tacked on as a rider last year. We gave that steel plant $450,000,000 in tax amortization in order to build the plant.

"One of their subsidiaries is building four steel boats in Japan with cheap labor. Each one of those boats will carry two trainloads of ore, eliminating a great many laboring men. It will be flying under a foreign flag with cheap labor.

"Now that is what we have got here," continued Congressman Kirwan. "Those very boats built overseas will be going down the Delaware River. For 20 or 30 years, the Delaware River had a depth of 25 feet and nobody used it. The river filled up to where they had only eight feet.

Kirwan Reverses

"The Army Engineers testified that the only one company who will get 100 per cent benefit out of this is the United States Steel Corp. Up on the St. Lawrence River we are only paying $100,000,000 to complete a seaway 105 miles long. They have 65 sea ports on the great lakes and they have 59,000,000 tons awaiting shipment. But on this waterway, they will only ship 30,000,000 tons and it is costing as much money to construct that 30 or 40 miles of channel as it is costing to build the St. Lawrence Seaway.

"The only one that has made any commitment that they will ship on this 40-foot channel is the United States Steel Corp.

"I am only asking you to be true to our laboring men and to the men that crossed that river 180 years ago when they would not give any quarter," concluded Congressman Kirwan. "They proved to the Congress that they were worthy. So, let the Congress prove to the country that they are not going to give them that $100,000,000 to do something that is not worth it.

"I am thankful that you have given me this time. I hope that this amendment is voted down."

The House of Representatives responded overwhelmingly to Kirwan's appeal and voted down the giveaway to U. S. Steel.

However, on June 1, 1957, young Mike Kirwan went to work for U. S. Steel. Before the end of June, U. S. Steel had received House approval for its 40-foot channel, costing the taxpayers $91,738,000.

Must Congressmen Do Contributors' Bidding?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — When the labor union bosses raise money to contribute to the campaigns of members of Congress, must those who are elected disregard their personal convictions on the merits of proposed laws and do the bidding of the groups that furnished the funds?

This issue seems to have been projected by James B. Carey, one of the top leaders of the AFL-CIO, whose recent letter to members of Congress has caused a stir. He expresses gratitude to those who voted as labor wanted and wrote in bitter sarcasm to those who, having accepted campaign contributions from labor interests, voted against their wishes on the Landrum-Griffin Bill.

Mr. Carey threatens reprisals at the ballot box and apparently the labor unions will withhold contributions next time from those members of Congress who refused to consider a campaign contribution as a bribe.

There is nothing unusual about Mr. Carey's letters to members of Congress. He should not be criticized as being alone in his viewpoint. For what he has written is in line with CIO policy for years. Indeed, John L. Lewis, while active in the CIO, was characteristically frank about the meaning of a contribution from laboring men to the campaigns of candidates for office.

When the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, having accepted big contributions from labor unions for his 1936 campaign, said in the midst of a strike in 1937 something that the labor union leaders didn't like, Mr. Lewis declared publicly:

"It ill behoo es one who has supped at labor's table and who has been sheltered in labor's house to curse with equal fervor and fine imparitality both labor and its adversaries when they become locked in deadly embrace."

In a biography of Mr. Lewis written by Saul D. Alinsky and published in 1949 by G. P. Putnam & Sons, the author tells of an interview with the labor leader during the Roosevelt regime. Mr. Lewis is quoted as having said:

"Everybody says I want my pound of flesh, that I gave Mr. Roosevelt $500,000 for his 1936 campaign, and I want quid pro quo. The United Mine Workers and the CIO have paid cash on the barrel for every piece of legislation that we have gotten.

"We have the Wagner Act. The Wagner Act cost us many dollars in contributions which the United Mine Workers have made to the Roosevelt Administration with the explicit understanding of a quid proquo for labor. These contributions far exceed the notions held by the general public or the press. Is anyone fool enough to believe for one instant that we gave this money to Roosevelt because we were spellbound by his voice? It is common knowledge that we spent approximately three quarters of a million dollars in the 1936 campaign. And you might be interested to know that the $500,000 direct contribution wasn't my price, but was the figure named by the White House, and I was given approximately forty-eight hours to get that money.

"Certainly there was a quid pro quo—the right for labor to organize. But there was more than that. The sums we spent in 1936 were not only cash contributions that were made to the Democratic Party but also were money expended in terms of salaries for organizers and other personnel who worked full time organizing and electioneering for Roosevelt. Radio time purchased, billboards, hand bills, literature and all other paraphernalia that are part and parcel of the process of being elected President of the United States didn't come gratis."

The same interview reveals that in 1938 when the tensions between Mr. Lewis and Mr. Roosevelt had eased off somewhat and the Democratic President was trying in primary contests to "purge" certain Southern Democratic Senators who happened also to be anti-labor, the United Mine Workers chief rendered a helping hand. Again Mr. Lewis is quoted in the Saul Alinsky book as follows:

"Where did the money come from that Franklin D. Roosevelt siphoned into these Southern states to try to bolster up the fight against the anti-New Deal Senators? Where did the money come from? I'll tell you where it came from. Right here, from the coffers of the United Mine Workers of America. It came by request of the President of the United States through one of his trusted aides. You tell this to the President, and if he questions it, and I'm certain that he will not, you may inform the President that I am perfectly willing to name names and sums, chapter and verse, to satisfy any slight amnesia that there might be on this particular issue.

"You ask me for gratitude in terms of an administration that we have literally poured our life's blood into supporting! You wonder that I do not express the feeling that one should have for a great champion of labor. I say that labor's champion has to a large extent here been a bought and paid for proposition. There is nothing we should be grateful for when we paid cash on the barrelhead at the price demanded for it."

So the philosophy of the money-raisers in labor's ranks hasn't changed much in the last 20 years since John L. Lewis spoke. In the 1958 Congressional campaign when the labor unions boasted that a majority of the House of Representatives was elected through their help, the Federal records show a relatively small sum was contributed. Big amounts were, however, donated largely to state organizations which do not come under the Federal laws requiring the reporting of contributions. It is estimated that labor raised approximately $10,000,000. Much of it was spent to uphold laws compelling workers to forego their civil rights and join unions.

R. W. writes: Is there a vaccination against the sun? Every year when summer starts my face and neck break out and stay that way until cold weather returns.

REPLY

No, but there are numerous protective salves and lotions that screen out the sun's rays. In addition, the anti-malarial drugs, Aralen and Plaquenil, may help by forming a chemical screen just beneath the outer surface of the skin. The use of an anti histaminic also may help. But despite the value of these ointments and drugs, most people in your fix rely on protective clothing, including wide brimmed hats, parasols, and walking on the shady side of the street.

NO LENS BANK

J. W. writes: Are lenses available from eye banks for replacement after a cataract operation?

REPLY

No, because methods have not been devised to graft a human lens into the eye of another person. Many structures cannot be transplanted because the body regards them as foreign material and does not allow them to take root.

PNEUMONIA TYPES

M. R. writes: What is staphylococcal pneumonia?

REPLY

A variety of microorganisms are capable of invading the lungs and causing pneumonia. The staphylococcus is one and the disease may be serious if the germs do not respond to penicillin or other antibiotic. At present, the virus is the most common cause of pneumonia, and 30 years ago the pneumococcus had its day.

NO EFFECT

E. R. writes: What would happen if a person with low blood pressure took high blood pressure medicine?

REPLY

Nothing. Most of the drugs have little or no effect on normal or low readings. Futhermore, the higher the blood pressure, the more marked the response. In other words, these drugs counteract the cause of high blood pressure and will not work in normal or low tension because the cause does not exist.

TOMORROW: The migraine problem.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Joe E. Lewis, night club favorite, discovered that a race horse had been named after his long-time piano accompanist, Austin Mack. "You know what a sentimental cuss I am," sighed Lewis. "I made a bet on good old Austin Mack. And to my amazement, out of nowhere, he came in strong to finish last!"

A cute young stenog in the Wall Street sector confided to Broker John Straley that her roommate was causing her some concern. "She's convinced herself," said the stenog, "that she's an alarm clock! And what's worse, sometimes when I set her so I can get down here in time for the opening of the market, she doesn't ring until it's too late!"

A New Englander wired a fashionable Florida resort hotel for "something nice and relaxing at about $20 a day." The retufn telegram read, "Try warm milk."

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Picks and shovels of Italian archaeologists are today uncovering a colosseum built by Roman Emperor Heliogabalus which was so big it would make some of our ball parks look like corner-lot carnival tents.

Heliogabalus was just a kid but he sure knew how to throw money around. He loved to stage mock naval battles on a lake of not water, but—gulp!—wine!

The wild animal fights staged by Helio-etc., were out of this world. And that's where he sent the battling beasts—more than 50 tigers being killed in a single bout!

The boy emperor changed his name almost as often as he did his toga. He was born Varius Avitus, was crowned emperor as Marcus Aurelius Antoninus, then called himself Heliogabalus. Quite a lot of aliases even for a juvenile delinquent like Helio!

Helio ate off solid gold plates and slept on a bed of silver. That's living a life of luxury the hard way.

Helio's reign was short but terrific. He was through when only 18 — however, he hadn't missed any of the high spots along the way.

It seems, to help pay for his extravagances, Helio cut his army officers' pay. The soldiers groused about it but he just couldn't see their point — until one day they showed it to him. It was at the end of a sword.

More W.Va. Cities Interested In Urban Planning Grant Idea

Bluefield, Benwood And McMechen Join Keyser And Weirton In Seeking Aid

CHARLESTON, W. Va. UPI—The processing of applications for urban planning grants by three more West Virginia cities was approved Tuesday by the newly-organized Economic Development Agency.

The nine-member group said applications were received from Bluefield, Benwood and McMechen. Funds for this work are made available through the Federal Housing Act of 1954.

Chairman Lawrence H. Rogers II, Huntington, said the Federal Housing and Home Agency already had accepted requests on behalf of Weirton and Keyser. These provide for $39,000 in the next two years in matching funds to underwrite improvement programs in these towns.

Rogers earlier told these attending the agency's second meeting that he personally "viewed with alarm" long-range research in the field of manpower availability and skills."

Such a program had been advocated by Gov. Cecil H. Underwood and the State Department of Employment Security as an opening wedge in the struggle to put West Virginia back on a more stable economic footing.

Rogers said such information was of a "highly volatile nature" and often was obsolete before being put to use." Instead of the manpower survey he recommended use of the agency's limited funds to work on what he termed "specific programs of a crash nature designed to find out information needed now for a specific requirement."

No action was taken on this phase of Rogers's report.

In other action Tuesday, the EDA directed its subcommittee and organization and procedures to continue the processing of applications for its executive directorship.

Rogers also named Don B. Potter, Fairmont, Luther S. Berry, Clarksburg, Dr. Frank H. Fischer, Martinsburg, Lewis E. Smith, Grantsville, and William A. Steele, Wheeling to a subcommittee on program development.

Potter, who will serve as chairman, is president of the Monongahela Power Co. Berry is cashier of a Clarksburg Bank. Smith is past president of the Little Kanawha Regional Council. Fischer past president of the West Virginia Junior Chamber of Commerce and Steele is president of Wheeling Steel Corp.

This group will prepare plans for a series of regional meetings of the EDA with local chambers of commerce and regional industrial groups. The first was tentatively scheduled for late October in the upper Monongahela Valley area.

Potter said the first objective of these sessions is to acquaint people of the state with the nine members of the agency and to acquaint the members themselves with the particular problems of various sections of West Virginia.

"Selling the local groups on the crying need for community planning and improvement activities as the first step in industrial expansion is mandatory if we are to succeed," he said.

Rogers, in his five-page report, called for immediate development of community planning programs and work on a master plan for the state. He said this might be described as a coordination of land uses of the state to insure their development for the greatest economic, social and recreation benefit to the citizens and taxpayers.

The EDA tentatively set Sept. 29 as the date for its next meeting.

Rotarians Hear Philosophy Of Public Housing

Frostburg Plan Is Outlined

FROSTBURG — Frostburg Rotarians heard of the philosophy behind the public housing program and the progress that is being made by the local housing authority at a meeting Monday at Anton's Big Savage Inn.

William Sluss Jr., executive director, presented the first part of the program, and Rev. William J. Yingling, president of the housing authority, presented the second part. John Watson was in charge of the program.

Sluss explained that the object of public housing is to provide decent homes for low-income families. According to the 1950 census, Sluss pointed out that Frostburg had a third of its homes classed as sub-standard. With a total of 1,100 dwellings, over 300 were placed in the category of sub-standard for one reason or another.

The public housing authority deals with local agencies in setting up a program which must first be applied for by the individual communities. Local real estate companies purchase the property and other local companies design and construct the homes which must meet federal standards.

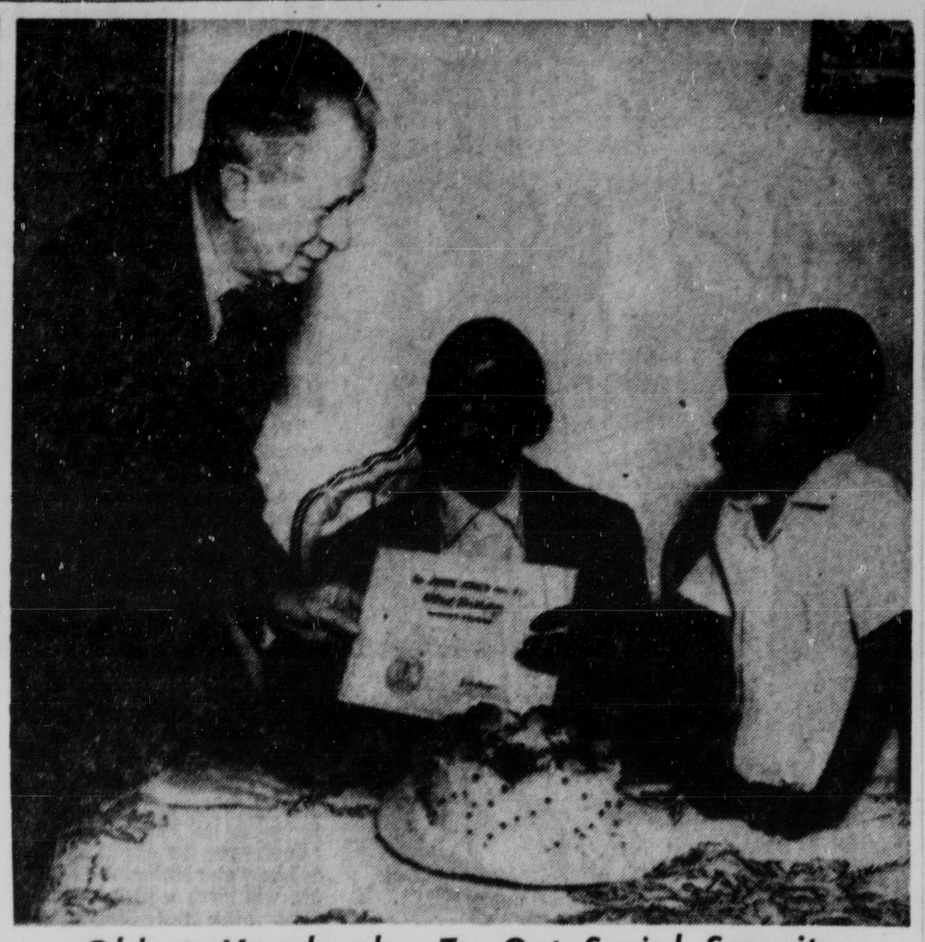

Rev. Mr. Yingling traced the progress made by the local authority. He pointed out that the project was started to provide housing for displaced families due to the expansion of Frostburg State Teachers College. Following a survey of Frostburg, the federal agency suggested the erection of a 50-unit development to include one, two, three and four-bedroom apartments.

The local units are expected to average in cost about $13,800 and will rent for from $38 to $48 per month. Amortization of the cost of the development is planned over a 40-year basis.

Local housing authority members include Rev. Mr. Yingling, William Thomas, Leslie Fair, Thomas McMorran and Robert Lemmert. Sluss, the executive secretary, has his office in the Fidelity Bank Building.

Rotarian guests at the meeting included John Liebau, Richard Underwood and Earl Chaney, Cumberland club, and John Dunn, Grantsville. Other visitors were Howard Withers, Birmingham, Ala.; George Brunatti, Greenbelt, and Dr. William O'Connor, formerly of Keyser, who opened a dental office in Frostburg recently.

Rodger Hosbein was admitted as a new member.

Morgan County Hospital Adopts Memorial Program

BERKELEY SPRINGS — Residents of the area served by Morgan County War Memorial Hospital can contribute to the hospital's fund campaign by purchasing "Living Memorials," according to Henry N. Gorrell, chairman.

"Living Memorials" in the enlarged and modernized War Memorial Hospital "will be the key to success in the current $150,000 fund drive," Gorrell said.

Explaining the "Living Memorials" plan, Gorrell continued "Years ago we used to erect marble shafts or monuments in memory of our loved ones. Today we have the opportunity to put our funds to work through the creation of 'Living Memorials' which will go on working for future generations as well as benefitting us directly."

Some 3,000 residents of the War Memorial Hospital service area, including Berkeley Springs and Morgan County, W. Va., the Hancock (Md.) area and the Warfordsburg area of Pennsylvania, will receive campaign brochures around the end of August, and be contacted for pledges to the drive in early September.

According to Gorrell, the Memorials plan has two forms:

Designated Gifts, which range from $300 up, pledged over a three-year period, and which mark specific rooms or facilities in the hospital in memory or honor of those chosen by the donors.

Master Memorial Plaques, which are $120 over three years, for which plaques in memory or honor of loved ones will be placed on a master shield to be erected in the hospital lobby.

Gorrell pointed out that $300 over three years is only $25 every three months, and that $120 is about 10c a day, or the price of a soft drink or cup of coffee.

"He termed the memorials plan a permanent tribute to the generosity of the people of our area, continuing in usefulness and serving not only to mark the memory of past and present citizens, but also to alleviate sickness and suffering."

Periodic lists are expected to be issued from campaign headquarters with the names of those who have taken Designated Memorials, Gorrell stated.

Jobless Claims Show Decline

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—New claims for jobless benefits by unemployed West Virginia workers declined last week, Employment Security Director F. Duane Hill said Tuesday.

However, Hill said this was not necessarily a true picture of the secondary effects of the nationwide steel strike which began July 14.

Hill said initial claims received by 24 district offices throughout the state last week dropped 111 to 3,861. Of that number, some 700 were miners whose jobs were terminated due to the walkout.

Secondary effects of the strike had cost 8,265 West Virginians their jobs through Aug. 19, with miners hardest hit. Hill said that of the 16,353 continued claims since the steelworkers left their jobs, 14,433 were from the mining industry.

Welch led all areas in the state last week with 373 new claims for unemployment benefits. Point Pleasant had 201 with 150 in the metals industry.

West Virginia Is Emphasizing Civil Defense

People More Aware Of Nuclear Danger

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Edgar M. Sites said Tuesday that industries and private citizens throughout the state are becoming more aware of the dangers of nuclear warfare.

Sites noted that an increasing number of inquiries flowing into his office was evidence that industrial officials and people in general are not as complacent as they appeared to be only a few years ago. He said a few years ago he could tell almost exactly how many civil defense workers were in West Virginia, now he can only guess that the number is in the thousands.

The director and his staff currently is busy recruiting industrial personnel, educators and students with a scientific background for a 40-hour course in radiology. This is designed to qualify them as instructors in the use of radiation instruments.

Schools Underway

Four such schools have been held in various parts of the state. Four others are slated in the near future for the Charleston, Clarksburg, Beckley - Bluefield and Eastern Panhandle areas.

Sites said his office was urging plant officials to find ways of preserving records and sheltering employes from "fallout" in event of a nuclear attack.

Home owners are also being urged to set up "fallout" shelters in their basements, Sites said. He added that many already had already been constructed at little cost.

Cites Own Shelter

His own shelter in his home at Martinsburg was cited as an example of "inexpensive" protection from radioactive particles which fall back to earth after a nuclear bomb is exploded near the ground.

Sites said all that is needed is to enclose a 10-foot corner of a basement in concrete and stock it with a two-week supply of food and water. Except for a direct bomb strike, this type of shelter is adequate protection, he said.

The director said in the event of direct strikes on the three major West Virginia target areas—Wheeling, Charleston and Huntington — residents to the east, the general direction of high altitude winds, would be in the path of "fallout" and should be particularly interested in some type of protection.

The July honorable mention list for feed conversion ratio included John Bowman, Mineral County; Howard Dean, Hampshire County; Karl Bobo, Grant County, all in the Pro League, and Ephriam J. Heishman, Hardy County; Ernest Schell, Grant County; Harold Miley, Hardy County; Lonnie Eye, Pendleton County, and Harman Self, Pendleton County, all of Semi Pro League.

"Living Memorials" in the enlarged and modernized War Memorial Hospital "will be the key to success in the current $150,000 fund drive," Gorrell said.

Explaining the "Living Memorials" plan, Gorrell continued "Years ago we used to erect marble shafts or monuments in memory of our loved ones. Today we have the opportunity to put our funds to work through the creation of 'Living Memorials' which will go on working for future generations as well as benefitting us directly."

Some 3,000 residents of the War Memorial Hospital service area, including Berkeley Springs and Morgan County, W. Va., the Hancock (Md.) area and the Warfordsburg area of Pennsylvania, will receive campaign brochures around the end of August, and be contacted for pledges to the drive in early September.

According to Gorrell, the Memorials plan has two forms:

Designated Gifts, which range from $300 up, pledged over a three-year period, and which mark specific rooms or facilities in the hospital in memory or honor of those chosen by the donors.

Master Memorial Plaques, which are $120 over three years, for which plaques in memory or honor of loved ones will be placed on a master shield to be erected in the hospital lobby.

Gorrell pointed out that $300 over three years is only $25 every three months, and that $120 is about 10c a day, or the price of a soft drink or cup of coffee.

"He termed the memorials plan a permanent tribute to the generosity of the people of our area, continuing in usefulness and serving not only to mark the memory of past and present citizens, but also to alleviate sickness and suffering."

Periodic lists are expected to be issued from campaign headquarters with the names of those who have taken Designated Memorials, Gorrell stated.

Jobless Claims Show Decline

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—New claims for jobless benefits by unemployed West Virginia workers declined last week, Employment Security Director F. Duane Hill said Tuesday.

However, Hill said this was not necessarily a true picture of the secondary effects of the nationwide steel strike which began July 14.

Hill said initial claims received by 24 district offices throughout the state last week dropped 111 to 3,861. Of that number, some 700 were miners whose jobs were terminated due to the walkout.

Secondary effects of the strike had cost 8,265 West Virginians their jobs through Aug. 19, with miners hardest hit. Hill said that of the 16,353 continued claims since the steelworkers left their jobs, 14,433 were from the mining industry.

Welch led all areas in the state last week with 373 new claims for unemployment benefits. Point Pleasant had 201 with 150 in the metals industry.

West Virginia Is Emphasizing Civil Defense

People More Aware Of Nuclear Danger

By CARLO J. SALZANO
United Press International

SOUTH CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia Civil and Defense Mobilization Director Edgar M. Sites said Tuesday that industries and private citizens throughout the state are becoming more aware of the dangers of nuclear warfare.

Sites noted that an increasing number of inquiries flowing into his office was evidence that industrial officials and people in general are not as complacent as they appeared to be only a few years ago. He said a few years ago he could tell almost exactly how many civil defense workers were in West Virginia, now he can only guess that the number is in the thousands.

The director and his staff currently is busy recruiting industrial personnel, educators and students with a scientific background for a 40-hour course in radiology. This is designed to qualify them as instructors in the use of radiation instruments.

Schools Underway

Four such schools have been held in various parts of the state. Four others are slated in the near future for the Charleston, Clarksburg, Beckley - Bluefield and Eastern Panhandle areas.

Sites said his office was urging plant officials to find ways of preserving records and sheltering employes from "fallout" in event of a nuclear attack.

Home owners are also being urged to set up "fallout" shelters in their basements, Sites said. He added that many already had already been constructed at little cost.

Cites Own Shelter

His own shelter in his home at Martinsburg was cited as an example of "inexpensive" protection from radioactive particles which fall back to earth after a nuclear bomb is exploded near the ground.

Sites said all that is needed is to enclose a 10-foot corner of a basement in concrete and stock it with a two-week supply of food and water. Except for a direct bomb strike, this type of shelter is adequate protection, he said.

The director said in the event of direct strikes on the three major West Virginia target areas—Wheeling, Charleston and Huntington — residents to the east, the general direction of high altitude winds, would be in the path of "fallout" and should be particularly interested in some type of protection.

Area Broiler Growers Cited

MORGANTOWN, W. Va.—Eastern West Virginia again proved dominant in the July honor roll and honorable mention list of West Virginia broiler growers announced by Ted R. Hash, extension poultryman at West Virginia University.

The Semi Pro League honor roll, for growers with 2,000-to-6,500-bird capacity, listed Lonnie Eye, Pendleton County; Curtis Dahmer, Pendleton County; Emmett McAvoy, Mineral County, and Delmar Parson, Grant County.

The July honorable mention list for feed conversion ratio included John Bowman, Mineral County; Howard Dean, Hampshire County; Karl Bobo, Grant County, all in the Pro League, and Ephriam J. Heishman, Hardy County; Ernest Schell, Grant County; Harold Miley, Hardy County; Lonnie Eye, Pendleton County, and Harman Self, Pendleton County, all of Semi Pro League.

Serious Teacher Shortage Exists In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Department of Education confirmed Monday that a serious teacher shortage exists in West Virginia with the opening of public schools just two weeks away.

The West Virginia Education Assn. last Saturday reported that mass resignations had occurred since Aug. 1 in many counties. The WVEA estimated that nearly 500 teachers were needed to fill present vacancies.

A spokesman for the Department of Education said no survey has been taken of individual counties but he understood there were shortages in several fields. The most notable were math, the sciences, home economics and shop, he said.

Asst. State Supt. Rex M. Smith said there also was an "acute" shortage of guidance counselors in West Virginia's public school system.

"There is a distinct possibility that some counties will not be able to take advantage of available National Defense Act funds due to this factor," Smith said.

He pointed out that under Title 5 of the act, counties could obtain federal funds on a matching basis for counseling programs in secondary schools.

There also is a shortage in the Mountain State of persons qualified to hold principalships, Smith said. He concluded that a more concise picture would be available after the opening of school scheduled Sept. 8 in most counties.

EVANGELIST—An evangelistic service will be conducted in the Frostburg Church of the Brethren, corner of Beall and Stoyer streets August 30 through September 6 at 7:30 p. m. DST daily with Rev. Clarence Moyers guest minister. Rev. Moyers is a native of Virginia, a graduate of Bridgewater College, Bridgewater, Va. and Bethany Biblical Seminary, Chicago. # Antonelli Posts 18th Win, Giants Rout Pirates, 12-5

Frisco Belts Five Hurlers For 15 Blows

Winning Twirler Bats In 3 Runs; Kline Is Loser

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Southpaw Johnny Antonelli drove in three runs with a single and a homer Tuesday night to stretch his victory total to 18 games—tops in the majors—as he paced the San Francisco Giants to a 12-5 rout over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Antonelli singled home Daryl Spencer in the sixth inning and in the eighth inning he drilled a homer off Bob Porterfield into the upper right field stands with Hobie Landrith on base.

The ace of the National League leaders' mound staff scattered 10 hits to approach his goal of becoming a 20-game winner for the third time in his big league career, which began as a "bonus baby" with the old Boston Braves in 1948.

The Giants sustained their 3½ game lead over the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2. San Francisco battered five Pirate pitchers for 15 hits to break a four-game Pittsburgh victory streak.

Starter Ronnie Kline, who faced only four batters, was charged with his 13th defeat of the season after he yielded two runs in the opening frame. The Giants scored in every inning but the second and third.

Spencer got his 10th homer of the year in the fourth inning off reliever Don Gross, who had retired the previous 10 batters in order. The Giants added single runs in the next three frames, tacked on two more in the eighth and capped it with four in the ninth.

The Pirates didn't score until the fourth inning when Roberto Clemente doubled and Dick Stuart shot his 20th homer over the left field scoreboard.

Pittsburgh picked up another brace of runs in the eighth inning on a pair of singles, a double and a groundout and added its final tally in the ninth when Don Hoak singled, reached third on two wild pitches by Antonelli, and scored on Roman Mejias' sacrifice fly.

Johansson Signs Pact To Defend His Title

Jack Dempsey Will Promote Heavy Bout Next Year

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—A return bout contract estimated to be worth $1,000,000 apiece for heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson was signed Tuesday after three days of negotiations.

It called for the fight to be held "sometime between March 1 and June 15 next year" at a site to be determined later.

Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler and former world champion, was credited with breaking down the icy chill of Johansson and his Swedish advisers in the lengthy discussions that began Saturday.

Dempsey To Promote

Dempsey will promote the fight. The site and date were left up to him.

"All speculation concerning the date and site are meaningless." Dempsey said before Johansson affixed his signature to the dotted line.

However, with New York apparently out of consideration because of the suspension of the license of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., it was believed that Los Angeles had the inside track for the bout. Others thought it might go to Philadelphia, Houston or Miami. Johansson was said to have preferred Los Angeles with its 105,000-seat Coliseum.

Headed Delegation

"I have accomplished what I came for," said Dempsey who headed the six-man American delegation which flew here to confer with Johansson.

Johansson knocked out Patterson at New York's Yankee Stadium June 26 in the third round. A return bout within 90 days was called for, and was tentatively set for New York next month.

However, Johansson balked because he had not received a financial accounting for the June 26 bout.

Teamster Members Ask Accounting For Colavito's Fund

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Members of Teamsters Local 293, representing more than 2,000 beer and soft drink drivers, asked Tuesday what happened to their money donated to honor outfielder Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians.

The money was donated for a union-sponsored night at Cleveland Stadium that never came off. Since plans for the ceremonies were abandoned after several members complained, the union men want their money back.

Colavito was to have been presented with a Cadillac and other gifts.

A Local 293 member said his steward brushed him off with, "You're lucky you've got a job" when asked about getting back his money.

Some members said they were forced to purchase $10 books to finance the program. But Local President John J. Felice denied this, saying members were asked to make voluntary gifts.

Dodgers Down Phillies, 5-2

Snider And Hodges Wallop Home Runs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2, Tuesday night on the strength of the "stopper job" by young Larry Sherry and the 21st homers of both Duke Snider and Gil Hodges to stay on the heels of the first-place San Francisco Giants in the National League.

Sherry came on in the eighth when the Phillies filled the bases of winner Johnny Podres (12-7) with a walk and two singles with none out. Wally Post hit a sacrifice fly for the second out and, after Gene Freese walked to load the bases again, Harry Anderson lined out to end the inning with only one-run damage.

Sherry, who came on with a 3-0 relief record since joining the Dodgers just before the All-Star game, blanked the Phillies in the ninth to run his scoreless record in relief to 19 2-3 innings.

Colts Trade Jimmy Carr

Will Receive Draft Choice From Eagles

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts traded defensive halfback Jimmy Carr to the Philadelphia Eagles Tuesday for a future draft choice to be determined at a later date.

Carr, 26, signed with the Colts as a free agent at the start of training. After graduation from Morris Harvey College in 1956, he joined the Chicago Cardinals but entered military service before the end of the season.

He rejoined the Cardinals in 1957 but saw limited action because of an injured foot. Last year he played for Montreal in the Canadian league.

The trade reduced the Colt roster to 43 players.

Braves Win, 3-1, In Tenth Inning

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Eddie Mathews' double and singles by Joe Adcock and Felix Mantilla gave the Milwaukee Braves two 10th-inning runs and a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

Relief pitcher, Don McMahon who boosted his record to 4-1, weathered a rally in the Cards' half, setting the Reds down after Wally Shannon, who batted for Lindy McDaniel, opened the inning with a double.

Colavito Hits Pair As Tribe Tops Yanks, 6-3

McLish Bags Win No. 16 For Indians; Ford Drops Seventh

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito hit a pair of home runs Tuesday night to lead his homer-happy Cleveland teammates to their seventh straight victory, a 6-3 decision over the New York Yankees before 36,143 fans.

The Yanks took a 1-0 lead in the first inning off Cal McLish (16-6), but the Indians rebounded with four in their half of the inning. Vic Power tied the score with a smash over the left field fence. Two walks followed and Colavito then drove a Whitey Ford pitch into the same sector for a 4-1 Cleveland lead.

Cleveland added two more in the fifth inning when Yogi Berra, playing right field, opened the door by dropping Power's drive for a two-base error. Minnie Minoso sacrificed Power to third, and he scored on Tito Francona's fly ball to center field.

Antonelli Posts 18th Win, Giants Rout Pirates, 12-5

Frisco Belts Five Hurlers For 15 Blows

Winning Twirler Bats In 3 Runs; Kline Is Loser

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Southpaw Johnny Antonelli drove in three runs with a single and a homer Tuesday night to stretch his victory total to 18 games—tops in the majors—as he paced the San Francisco Giants to a 12-5 rout over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Antonelli singled home Daryl Spencer in the sixth inning and in the eighth inning he drilled a homer off Bob Porterfield into the upper right field stands with Hobie Landrith on base.

The ace of the National League leaders' mound staff scattered 10 hits to approach his goal of becoming a 20-game winner for the third time in his big league career, which began as a "bonus baby" with the old Boston Braves in 1948.

The Giants sustained their 3½ game lead over the second-place Los Angeles Dodgers, who defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2. San Francisco battered five Pirate pitchers for 15 hits to break a four-game Pittsburgh victory streak.

Starter Ronnie Kline, who faced only four batters, was charged with his 13th defeat of the season after he yielded two runs in the opening frame. The Giants scored in every inning but the second and third.

Spencer got his 10th homer of the year in the fourth inning off reliever Don Gross, who had retired the previous 10 batters in order. The Giants added single runs in the next three frames, tacked on two more in the eighth and capped it with four in the ninth.

The Pirates didn't score until the fourth inning when Roberto Clemente doubled and Dick Stuart shot his 20th homer over the left field scoreboard.

Pittsburgh picked up another brace of runs in the eighth inning on a pair of singles, a double and a groundout and added its final tally in the ninth when Don Hoak singled, reached third on two wild pitches by Antonelli, and scored on Roman Mejias' sacrifice fly.

Snider And Hodges Wallop Home Runs

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2, Tuesday night on the strength of the "stopper job" by young Larry Sherry and the 21st homers of both Duke Snider and Gil Hodges to stay on the heels of the first-place San Francisco Giants in the National League.

Sherry came on in the eighth when the Phillies filled the bases of winner Johnny Podres (12-7) with a walk and two singles with none out. Wally Post hit a sacrifice fly for the second out and, after Gene Freese walked to load the bases again, Harry Anderson lined out to end the inning with only one-run damage.

Sherry, who came on with a 3-0 relief record since joining the Dodgers just before the All-Star game, blanked the Phillies in the ninth to run his scoreless record in relief to 19 2-3 innings.

Colts Trade Jimmy Carr

Will Receive Draft Choice From Eagles

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts traded defensive halfback Jimmy Carr to the Philadelphia Eagles Tuesday for a future draft choice to be determined at a later date.

Carr, 26, signed with the Colts as a free agent at the start of training. After graduation from Morris Harvey College in 1956, he joined the Chicago Cardinals but entered military service before the end of the season.

He rejoined the Cardinals in 1957 but saw limited action because of an injured foot. Last year he played for Montreal in the Canadian league.

The trade reduced the Colt roster to 43 players.

Braves Win, 3-1, In Tenth Inning

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Eddie Mathews' double and singles by Joe Adcock and Felix Mantilla gave the Milwaukee Braves two 10th-inning runs and a 3-1 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday night.

Relief pitcher, Don McMahon who boosted his record to 4-1, weathered a rally in the Cards' half, setting the Reds down after Wally Shannon, who batted for Lindy McDaniel, opened the inning with a double.

McLish Bags Win No. 16 For Indians; Ford Drops Seventh

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rocky Colavito hit a pair of home runs Tuesday night to lead his homer-happy Cleveland teammates to their seventh straight victory, a 6-3 decision over the New York Yankees before 36,143 fans.

The Yanks took a 1-0 lead in the first inning off Cal McLish (16-6), but the Indians rebounded with four in their half of the inning. Vic Power tied the score with a smash over the left field fence. Two walks followed and Colavito then drove a Whitey Ford pitch into the same sector for a 4-1 Cleveland lead.

Cleveland added two more in the fifth inning when Yogi Berra, playing right field, opened the door by dropping Power's drive for a two-base error. Minnie Minoso sacrificed Power to third, and he scored on Tito Francona's fly ball to center field.

Johansson Signs Pact To Defend His Title

Jack Dempsey Will Promote Heavy Bout Next Year

GOTEBORG, Sweden (AP)—A return bout contract estimated to be worth $1,000,000 apiece for heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson was signed Tuesday after three days of negotiations.

It called for the fight to be held "sometime between March 1 and June 15 next year" at a site to be determined later.

Jack Dempsey, the old Manassa Mauler and former world champion, was credited with breaking down the icy chill of Johansson and his Swedish advisers in the lengthy discussions that began Saturday.

Dempsey To Promote

Dempsey will promote the fight. The site and date were left up to him.

"All speculation concerning the date and site are meaningless," Dempsey said before Johansson affixed his signature to the dotted line.

However, with New York apparently out of consideration because of the suspension of the license of Rosensohn Enterprises, Inc., it was believed that Los Angeles had the inside track for the bout. Others thought it might go to Philadelphia, Houston or Miami. Johansson was said to have preferred Los Angeles with its 105,000-seat Coliseum.

Headed Delegation

"I have accomplished what I came for," said Dempsey who headed the six-man American delegation which flew here to confer with Johansson.

Johansson knocked out Patterson at New York's Yankee Stadium June 26 in the third round. A return bout within 90 days was called for, and was tentatively set for New York next month.

However, Johansson balked because he had not received a financial accounting for the June 26 bout.

Teamster Members Ask Accounting For Colavito's Fund

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Members of Teamsters Local 293, representing more than 2,000 beer and soft drink drivers, asked Tuesday what happened to their money donated to honor outfielder Rocky Colavito of the Cleveland Indians.

The money was donated for a union-sponsored night at Cleveland Stadium that never came off. Since plans for the ceremonies were abandoned after several members complained, the union men want their money back.

Colavito was to have been presented with a Cadillac and other gifts.

A Local 293 member said his steward brushed him off with, "You're lucky you've got a job" when asked about getting back his money.

Some members said they were forced to purchase $10 books to finance the program. But Local President John J. Felice denied this, saying members were asked to make voluntary gifts.

Steve Johnson Qualifies For Jaycee International Golf

Cumberland Junior Star Shoots 150

Gerringer's 139 Is Best; 72-Hole Test Opens Today

Stephen L. Johnson, 14, of Cumberland, qualified for 72 holes of medal play in the International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament Tuesday at the 6,580-yard par 35-35—70 Elizabeth Manor Country Club course, Portsmouth, Va., by posting a 36-hole score 150.

The Fort Hill High School freshman shot a four-above par 74 Tuesday to go along with his 76 on Monday.

The first 18-holes of medal play is scheduled today.

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Ronnie Gerringer of Newport News, Va., won the qualifying medal in the International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament Tuesday with 68-71—139, one under par and four strokes ahead of his closest pursuer in the field of 199 contestants.

The 100 low scorers, who carded 160 or lower, will compete in 72 holes of medal play for the championship, beginning Wednesday and continuing through Saturday at the par 35-35—70 Elizabeth Manor Country Club.

Trailing Gerringer with 143s were Maury Finkelstein of Savannah, Ga., who had 75-68, and James Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., runnerup in this year's New England Amateur, who had 69-74.

Bracketed at 145 were Thomas Cassady of Marietta, Ohio, 70-75, and George Shortridge of St.Paul, Minn., 76-69.

Virginia won the state team title with an aggregate score of 595 for 36 holes. Georgia was second with 599.

Rigney Concerned Over Doubleheader

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney said Tuesday he was "concerned" over a ruling which directs his league-leading Giants to play a re-scheduled double-header in Philadelphia on Thursday.

"Of course I'm concerned and worried," he said. "We play a night game with the Pirates here tomorrow (Wednesday) and won't get to Philadelphia until one or two o'clock Thursday morning. That makes it pretty tough on the players."

The double-header was rescheduled by National League President Warren Giles as a result of last Sunday's rainout in Philadelphia.

Pan-American Games Will Open Thursday

CHICAGO (AP)—Final preparations for the third Pan American Games opening here Thursday quickened Tuesday as 200 more athletes arrived and more flags were raised in the Pan American village.

The flags of seven more nations were hoisted and then hung limply from their staffs in the semicircle in front of the village headquarters at the University of Chicago. The temperatures shot up to 94 by mid-day as the week-long heat wave continued.

Flag-raising ceremonies were held for Peru, the Netherlands Antilles, Argentina, Bermuda, Haiti, British Guina and the United States. There's a total of 13 aloft now and seven more will be lifted Wednesday.

Nagami Entered In Laurel Race

LAUREL, Md. (UPI)—Nagami, winner of the Coronation Cup at Epsom Downs, Tuesday joined New Zealand's Up and Coming in the field for the Nov. 11 running of the $100,000 Washington, D.C., International.

Nagami was bred in Ireland and has won in England, France and Italy.

Mesdames Cook, Mello Score At Maplehurst

Mrs. William Cook and Mrs. Joseph Mello were the winners in odd hole tournaments held yesterday at the Maplehurst Country Club.

Mrs. Cook paced the 18-hole contestants with a net 49-10—39 and Mrs. Mello led the 9-hole group with a net 66-24—42.

Twenty-four members of the Women's Golf Association participated.

CHANGE LEAGUES—Ted Kluszewski, left, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, yesterday was traded by the National League club to the Chicago White Sox, now leaders of the American League. In exchange the Chisox sent Harry Simpson, right, to the Buccos. Pittsburgh also obtained Bob Sagers, infielder from Indianapolis, White Sox farm, and assigned him to Columbus of the International League, a Pirate affiliate. (AP Photofax)

Pirates Obtain Simpson In Swap For Kluszewski

Bucs Also Obtain Bob Sagers, Send Him To Columbus

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's White Sox obtained Ted Kluszewski, the once-mighty National League slugger, from Pittsburgh Tuesday in a move that could make easier their efforts to win the American League pennant.

To complete the waiver transaction, the White Sox, with a team batting average of only .250 and a major league low of 76 homers, gave up outfielder Harry Simpson and Bob Sagers, an infielder with Indianapolis, a Sox affiliate in the American Assn. Sagers immediately was assigned to Columbus of the International League a Pirate affiliate.

Kluszewski, 34, appeared in only 60 games for Pittsburgh this season, mostly as a pinch-hitter. He had only two homers and 17 runs batted in along with a batting average of .244.

Wants To Play Regularly

"It's a good move for me because it is going to give me more of a chance to play regularly," said the muscular Kluszewski when told of the deal. "I just didn't figure in Pittsburgh's plans. I hate to leave all my friends in Pittsburgh but I would rather play regularly. I'll leave for Chicago either late today or tomorrow."

For nine years with the Cincinnati Reds, Klu was a batting powerhouse. He led the National League in homers with 49 in 1954 threatening Hack Wilson's record of 56 until he faded in the final month. He hit 251 homers, drove in 886 runs and seven times batted better than .300 in a season.

In 1957, the former Indiana football star sprained his back and appeared in only 69 games. That winter he was dealt to the Pirates for Dee Fondy, another first baseman.

The White Sox, strong in pitching and afield, have maintained their slim lead over Cleveland with little help from their first basemen.

Two Weak Hitters

Earl Torgeson is hitting only .225 and Norm Cash .221. Both are lefthanded batters. The Sox have used catcher Sherm Lollar at first base against southpaw pitchers. Kluszewski, who will be eligible for the World Series if the Sox participate, bats from the left side. The Sox have won 29 of their 74 triumphs by a single run.

Stitch, Rodriguez Fight In Kentucky

Injury Is Serious, May Need Surgery At Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Larry Doby, with an injured ankle threatening to end the baseball career of the first Negro to play in the American league, will be flown here Wednesday for an examination by Dr. George Bennett.

Dr. Bennett is a specialist to whom a host of ailing baseball players have turned.

A bed has been reserved for Doby at Johns Hopkins Hospital in case surgery is to be performed.

"It's a serious injury, it's quite possible he'll need surgery," said Dr. Donald S. Maxwell of Sacramento.

Doby was sent to San Diego this season for his first trip to minors after being signed by Cleveland in 1947. After the 1955 season, he was traded to the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox dealt him off to Baltimore in the winter of 1957 and the Orioles shipped him to Cleveland before the 1958 season started. Cleveland in turn traded him for Tito Francona of Detroit who sold him once more to the White Sox for a reported $30,999.

The White Sox sent Doby to Dr. Bennett for an opinion on whether there will be any more baseball playing for the six-time American League All-Star outfielder.

Hull Wins Duel From Kauffman

The Loyal Order of Moose eked out a 2-1 decision over the Veterans of Foreign Wars yesterday at Stitcher Field in the first game of the final best-of-five playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Each team was limited to six hits in a contest in which Webb Hull earned the decision over Glenn Kauffman in a pitching duel.

Manager Woody Woodson's team won the game in the top of the 7th inning when Paul Lease reached base on a fielder's choice, advanced to second on an infield out and broke the 1-1 tie on Paul McGregor's timely base wallop.

Each team scored a run in the third inning. The Moose broke the ice when Pete Cecil hit safely, moved to third on infield outs and came home on Herman Lewis's single. Singles by Ted Durbin and Jim Eckard and Vern Penner's sacrifice fly produced the Vets' lone tally.

There were no bases on balls issued by the pitchers and Hull fanned three.

Woodson rapped a two-bagger and Bob Keyser, Paul McGregor, Jim Fradiska, Pete Cecil and Herman Lewis smacked singles to account for the Moose hits. Eckard had two hits, Manager Cecil Grimes smacked a double and Durbin, "Pete" Elliott and Phil Reuschel garnered singles for the V.F.W.

BONNEVILLE SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — California printer Mickey Thompson buzzed his ground-hugging speed car over the Utah desert Tuesday at 332.809 miles per hour, the fastest ever driven by an American.

Thompson, of Los Angeles, made his record run over the Salt Flats while preparing for an assault on the 400 m.p.h. mark.

The world land speed record is held by the late English driver, John R. Cobb, who streaked along at 394.196 12 years ago on these same flats.

The Pen-Mar League pennant winners will play host to Mt. Savage on Saturday at 4 p. m., in a game postponed from last Sunday.

Barry MacKay, Olmedo Picked

Davis Cup Matches Will Start Friday

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) — U. S. Captain Perry Jones indicated Tuesday he will throw Alex Olmedo of Peru and Airman Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, into the opening two singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round against Australia Friday.

Earl (Butch) Buchholz, 18-year-old schoolboy star from St. Louis, reportedly had been considered over MacKay for singles duty.

As both Australian and U. S. squads went through extended practice sessions on the turf courts at the West Side Tennis Club, scene of the challenge round Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Jones expressed optimism over a successful cup defense and discussed only Olmedo and MacKay.

Canada Is Winner Over U.S. Defender In Harmsworth Race

DETROIT (AP)—Roaring back from what appeared certain defeat, Canada won the first of the best-of-three Harmsworth Trophy speedboat races Tuesday as mechanical misfortune overtook the United States' defender.

With only 15 of the gruelling 45 miles to go Miss Supertest III appeared almost hopelessly beaten by Maverick, although she had been cutting down the American's lead gradually.

On the 13th lap, Maverick, the Gold Cup champion driven by Bill Stead, developed supercharger trouble and Miss Supertest quickly overhauled her.

It was a walkaway for the Canadian craft, piloted by Bob Hayward after that. Maverick limped around the final three-mile lap at only 73.529 miles per hour.

The second race will be held Wednesday and the third, if necessary, Thursday.

Anne Quast Easy Winner In Amateur

Jo-Anne Gunderson, And Goodwin Score

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joanne Goodwin, a trim little thing with a mound of curly brown hair, cut par to pieces again Tuesday in leading the way out of the second round of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

For the 28 holes it took her to advance to Wednesday's third round, Miss Goodwin was 3 under par on Congressional's 6,457-yard, 37-37—74 tournament course.

Miss Gunderson was 1 above standard covering 14 holes for the second straight day as she whipped Mrs. C. Lincoln Jewett of the home club, 5 and 4.

Basilio Remains Friday Favorite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Odds ranging from 2-1 to 7-5 Tuesday favored Carmen Basilio over Gene Fullmer on Friday night when they battle at the Cow Palace for the NBA world middleweight boxing title.

Still there wasn't much wagering reported on the outcome of the scheduled 15-rounder between the two belters who each has at one time held possession of the 160-pound crown.

Fullmer, the Mormon mauler from West Jordan, Utah, already has wound up his public drills with only one running and some loosening up due the rest of the week.

PORTSMOUTH, Va. (AP)—Ronnie Gerringer of Newport News, Va., won the qualifying medal in the International Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament Tuesday with 68-71—139, one under par and four strokes ahead of his closest pursuer in the field of 199 contestants.

Trailing Gerringer with 143s were Maury Finkelstein of Savannah, Ga., who had 75-68, and James Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., runnerup in this year's New England Amateur, who had 69-74.

Rigney Concerned Over Doubleheader

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — San Francisco Manager Bill Rigney said Tuesday he was "concerned" over a ruling which directs his league-leading Giants to play a re-scheduled double-header in Philadelphia on Thursday.

"Of course I'm concerned and worried," he said. "We play a night game with the Pirates here tomorrow (Wednesday) and won't get to Philadelphia until one or two o'clock Thursday morning. That makes it pretty tough on the players."

Pan-American Games Will Open Thursday

CHICAGO (AP)—Final preparations for the third Pan American Games opening here Thursday quickened Tuesday as 200 more athletes arrived and more flags were raised in the Pan American village.

The flags of seven more nations were hoisted and then hung limply from their staffs in the semicircle in front of the village headquarters at the University of Chicago. The temperatures shot up to 94 by mid-day as the week-long heat wave continued.

Flag-raising ceremonies were held for Peru, the Netherlands Antilles, Argentina, Bermuda, Haiti, British Guina and the United States. There's a total of 13 aloft now and seven more will be lifted Wednesday.

CHANGE LEAGUES—Ted Kluszewski, left, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, yesterday was traded by the National League club to the Chicago White Sox, now leaders of the American League. In exchange the Chisox sent Harry Simpson, right, to the Buccos. Pittsburgh also obtained Bob Sagers, infielder from Indianapolis, White Sox farm, and assigned him to Columbus of the International League, a Pirate affiliate. (AP Photofax)

Pirates Obtain Simpson In Swap For Kluszewski

Bucs Also Obtain Bob Sagers, Send Him To Columbus

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's White Sox obtained Ted Kluszewski, the once-mighty National League slugger, from Pittsburgh Tuesday in a move that could make easier their efforts to win the American League pennant.

To complete the waiver transaction, the White Sox, with a team batting average of only .250 and a major league low of 76 homers, gave up outfielder Harry Simpson and Bob Sagers, an infielder with Indianapolis, a Sox affiliate in the American Assn. Sagers immediately was assigned to Columbus of the International League a Pirate affiliate.

Kluszewski, 34, appeared in only 60 games for Pittsburgh this season, mostly as a pinch-hitter. He had only two homers and 17 runs batted in along with a batting average of .244.

Wants To Play Regularly

"It's a good move for me because it is going to give me more of a chance to play regularly," said the muscular Kluszewski when told of the deal. "I just didn't figure in Pittsburgh's plans. I hate to leave all my friends in Pittsburgh but I would rather play regularly. I'll leave for Chicago either late today or tomorrow."

For nine years with the Cincinnati Reds, Klu was a batting powerhouse. He led the National League in homers with 49 in 1954 threatening Hack Wilson's record of 56 until he faded in the final month. He hit 251 homers, drove in 886 runs and seven times batted better than .300 in a season.

In 1957, the former Indiana football star sprained his back and appeared in only 69 games. That winter he was dealt to the Pirates for Dee Fondy, another first baseman.

Two Weak Hitters

Earl Torgeson is hitting only .225 and Norm Cash .221. Both are lefthanded batters. The Sox have used catcher Sherm Lollar at first base against southpaw pitchers. Kluszewski, who will be eligible for the World Series if the Sox participate, bats from the left side. The Sox have won 29 of their 74 triumphs by a single run.

Stitch, Rodriguez Fight In Kentucky

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Rudell Stitch, seeking a shot at the welterweight title, meets undefeated Luis Manuel Rodriguez Wednesday night in a scheduled 10-round fight here.

Rodriguez, whose last victory was a decision over former welterweight king Virgil Akins June 17 at Miami Beach, has won 21 fights with one no-contest. The 22-year-old Cuban champ from Havana is ranked seventh. He has knocked out seven of his opponents.

Tigers Give $35,000 Bonus To Cloutier

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers Tuesday added another bonus player to their organization by signing Michael K. Cloutier, 18-year-old Madison, Wis., high school star.

Cloutier will play for Charleston, W.Va., of the American Association.

The young 190-pound infielder was signed by chief scout Ed Katalinas for a bonus of nearly $35,000. He plays third base and shortstop.

In the last two years of high school ball, Cloutier hit .525 and .557 and hit 32 home runs.

Injury Is Serious, May Need Surgery At Johns Hopkins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Larry Doby, with an injured ankle threatening to end the baseball career of the first Negro to play in the American league, will be flown here Wednesday for an examination by Dr. George Bennett.

Dr. Bennett is a specialist to whom a host of ailing baseball players have turned.

A bed has been reserved for Doby at Johns Hopkins Hospital in case surgery is to be performed.

"It's a serious injury, it's quite possible he'll need surgery," said Dr. Donald S. Maxwell of Sacramento.

Doby was sent to San Diego this season for his first trip to minors after being signed by Cleveland in 1947. After the 1955 season, he was traded to the Chicago White Sox.

The White Sox dealt him off to Baltimore in the winter of 1957 and the Orioles shipped him to Cleveland before the 1958 season started. Cleveland in turn traded him for Tito Francona of Detroit who sold him once more to the White Sox for a reported $30,999.

The White Sox sent Doby to Dr. Bennett for an opinion on whether there will be any more baseball playing for the six-time American League All-Star outfielder.

Moose Beat Vets, 2-1, In Opener

Hull Wins Duel From Kauffman

The Loyal Order of Moose eked out a 2-1 decision over the Veterans of Foreign Wars yesterday at Stitcher Field in the first game of the final best-of-five playoff series in the Rocking Chair Softball League.

Each team was limited to six hits in a contest in which Webb Hull earned the decision over Glenn Kauffman in a pitching duel.

Manager Woody Woodson's team won the game in the top of the 7th inning when Paul Lease reached base on a fielder's choice, advanced to second on an infield out and broke the 1-1 tie on Paul McGregor's timely base wallop.

Each team scored a run in the third inning. The Moose broke the ice when Pete Cecil hit safely, moved to third on infield outs and came home on Herman Lewis's single. Singles by Ted Durbin and Jim Eckard and Vern Penner's sacrifice fly produced the Vets' lone tally.

There were no bases on balls issued by the pitchers and Hull fanned three.

Woodson rapped a two-bagger and Bob Keyser, Paul McGregor, Jim Fradiska, Pete Cecil and Herman Lewis smacked singles to account for the Moose hits. Eckard had two hits, Manager Cecil Grimes smacked a double and Durbin, "Pete" Elliott and Phil Reuschel garnered singles for the V.F.W.

Thompson, of Los Angeles, made his record run over the Salt Flats while preparing for an assault on the 400 m.p.h. mark.

The world land speed record is held by the late English driver, John R. Cobb, who streaked along at 394.196 12 years ago on these same flats.

Barry MacKay, Olmedo Picked

Davis Cup Matches Will Start Friday

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. (UPI) — U. S. Captain Perry Jones indicated Tuesday he will throw Alex Olmedo of Peru and Airman Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, into the opening two singles matches of the Davis Cup challenge round against Australia Friday.

Earl (Butch) Buchholz, 18-year-old schoolboy star from St. Louis, reportedly had been considered over MacKay for singles duty.

As both Australian and U. S. squads went through extended practice sessions on the turf courts at the West Side Tennis Club, scene of the challenge round Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Jones expressed optimism over a successful cup defense and discussed only Olmedo and MacKay.

Canada Is Winner Over U.S. Defender In Harmsworth Race

DETROIT (AP)—Roaring back from what appeared certain defeat, Canada won the first of the best-of-three Harmsworth Trophy speedboat races Tuesday as mechanical misfortune overtook the United States' defender.

With only 15 of the gruelling 45 miles to go Miss Supertest III appeared almost hopelessly beaten by Maverick, although she had been cutting down the American's lead gradually.

On the 13th lap, Maverick, the Gold Cup champion driven by Bill Stead, developed supercharger trouble and Miss Supertest quickly overhauled her.

It was a walkaway for the Canadian craft, piloted by Bob Hayward after that. Maverick limped around the final three-mile lap at only 73.529 miles per hour.

The second race will be held Wednesday and the third, if necessary, Thursday.

Miss Supertest's winning average speed of 94.085 miles per hour was the slowest in the last three Harmsworth trophy challenges. Maverick's average was 91.733 m.p.h.

Anne Quast Easy Winner In Amateur

Jo-Anne Gunderson, And Goodwin Score

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joanne Goodwin, a trim little thing with a mound of curly brown hair, cut par to pieces again Tuesday in leading the way out of the second round of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Championship.

Miss Goodwin, 23-year-old daughter of a Haverill, Mass., pro routed Sharon Fladoos, 16, of Dubuque, the Iowa junior champion, 6 and 4.

She rapped 2 strokes off par for the 14 holes at Congressional Country Club. The performance subordinated the winning performances of defending champion Anne Quast and major contender Jo-Anne Gunderson, the 1957 women's titleholder.

For the 28 holes it took her to advance to Wednesday's third round, Miss Goodwin was 3 under par on Congressional's 6,457-yard, 37-37—74 tournament course.

Miss Quast, 21, of Marysville, Wash., was 1 under for 26 holes and Miss Gunderson, 20-year-old Kirkland, Wash., strawberry blonde, 2 over for 28.

Miss Quast again won easily, overwhelming 15-year-old Martha Painter of Corpus Christi, Tex., 7 and 6.

Miss Gunderson was 1 above standard covering 14 holes for the second straight day as she whipped Mrs. C. Lincoln Jewett of the home club, 5 and 4.

Basilio Remains Friday Favorite

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Odds ranging from 2-1 to 7-5 Tuesday favored Carmen Basilio over Gene Fullmer on Friday night when they battle at the Cow Palace for the NBA world middleweight boxing title.

Still there wasn't much wagering reported on the outcome of the scheduled 15-rounder between the two belters who each has at one time held possession of the 160-pound crown.

Fullmer, the Mormon mauler from West Jordan, Utah, already has wound up his public drills with only one running and some loosening up due the rest of the week.

The bidding was over almost before it started. Reinforced by favorable vulnerability, West preempted with a bid of four clubs. North passed, of course, and East's call of four diamonds was made primarily for the purpose of suggesting a lead in the likely event that South eventually became declarer at a major suit contract. South's four heart bid closed the auction.

The ten of diamonds was opened and East overtook to run three tricks in the suit, on the third of which West was called upon to make the discard which forms the subject matter of today's text. Posed as a direct problem, many players holding the West hand would find the winning solution. It is clear that a fourth round of diamonds cinches the defeat of the contract for the king of hearts cannot then be prevented from winning.

Left to his own devices East will naturally lead a club in an effort to snare the setting trick. Since it is probable that declarer is out of that suit, West must devise some means of getting his partner to lead another diamond. It may be suggested that the discard of the three of clubs would warn partner off that suit but there is a good chance that East will construe this as a call for a shift to spades. West hit upon an ingenious method of ordering the diamond lead. He discarded the ace of clubs! The futility of a club lead now became evident to East who came through with the necessary diamond continuation to defeat the contract.

Red Tape Revolt

Out of Germany comes the story of the tired salesman who got so thoroughly disgusted with writing out his passport number, age, birthplace, occupation, and all the rest of the nonsense demanded by the police every time you check into a German hotel, that he started filling in anything that struck his fancy.

Regularly he listed himself ratcatcher or bear-trainer and his birthplace as such spots as Sodom or Gomorrah. "But nobody ever noticed," he wailed. "Only the hotel porters sometimes laughed. Eleven years I did it. I consulted the criminal code and I began to list myself as burglar, forger, and embezzler. Finally, I listed myself as a swindler and gave my correct name and address." That did it. The police ran him in for listing a profession he didn't practice and he may have to pay a fine.

But what a splendid revolt against red tape! The only thing that surprises me is that it was a German who thought of it. In this bureaucratic, form-filled world, the Germans are the absolute worst. A man can't fly across Germany—even when he has no intention of stopping there — without filling out innumerable forms and giving the Germans the opportunity to stamp them. The Germans are the stamp-happiest people on earth. There is nothing smugger than the look of a German official stamping a man's passport. They get a satisfaction out of wielding a rubber stamp that the rest of us get out of making love.

They stamp a form not once but three times. Germany is by no means the only place that requires all that nonsense. Every hotel in Europe demands a passport. Why? And while we're on the subject, whatever happens to all those forms that one fills on every international airplane? I must have filled in my own name, occupation, passport number, birthplace, hundreds of times. Officials in dozens of cities took those forms. What did they do with them?

I can just see filing cabinets bulging with the information that I was born in Milwaukee, Wisconsin. That wildly unimportant bit of information must be on file all around the world. Does anyone ever look at those little white cards? What purpose do they serve?

I remember the tremendous impact of "The Consul," Gian-Carlo Menotti's opera, which was a delicately ironic tragedy about red tape. It is the story of a woman who is trying to flee a country with her baby. But to do so, she needs a visa from the consulate and there she is confronted by a meticulously efficient secretary who rules over a kingdom of forms and endless documents. Delay spins out into months of waiting.

In the end she commits suicide, the victim of that peculiarly contemporary affliction of indifference. She is not done in by the fates or by man's savagery or by any flaw in her character or the malign workings of villainy or any of the other dramatic forces that usually do in the heroines. She is destroyed by simple senseless love of white paper that is one of the substitutes for humanity and thought in the modern world.

There's a marvelous duet in the opera which goes:

"Seas go dry and suns grow cold

"But all the documents must be signed

"And don't forget the questionaires must be answered

"Love may die and truth grow cold

"My name in woman.

"Age: still young.

"Color of hair: gray.

"Color of eyes: the color of tears.

"Occupation: waiting,

"Waiting, waiting, waiting, waiting, waiting, waiting!"

It's nice to know that someone finally kicked over the traces and filled in "swindler" where he should have said "salesman." But it's too bad he landed in the arms of the police, not because jail is so bad but because, before the cell doors clang shut, they ask you name, age, occupation, color of eyes, mother's maiden name . . .

The violin, considered by many to be the most important instrument in a modern orchestra, was not really perfected until the 17th century.

Opening lead: Ten of ♦.

The bidding was over almost before it started. Reinforced by favorable vulnerability, West preempted with a bid of four clubs. North passed, of course, and East's call of four diamonds was made primarily for the purpose of suggesting a lead in the likely event that South eventually became declarer at a major suit contract. South's four heart bid closed the auction.

The ten of diamonds was opened and East overtook to run three tricks in the suit, on the third of which West was called upon to make the discard which forms the subject matter of today's text. Posed as a direct problem, many players holding the West hand would find the winning solution. It is clear that a fourth round of diamonds cinches the defeat of the contract for the king of hearts cannot then be prevented from winning.

Left to his own devices East will naturally lead a club in an effort to snare the setting trick. Since it is probable that declarer is out of that suit, West must devise some means of getting his partner to lead another diamond. It may be suggested that the discard of the three of clubs would warn partner off that suit but there is a good chance that East will construe this as a call for a shift to spades. West hit upon an ingenious method of ordering the diamond lead. He discarded the ace of clubs! The futility of a club lead now became evident to East who came through with the necessary diamond continuation to defeat the contract.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — From Switzerland Frank Sinatra received the script of Dorothy Kingsley's story "The Lady Takes A Tramp," and he has agreed to star in it a year from now. Dorothy told him the idea before she went to Switzerland where she is working with Mel Ferrer on "Nine Coaches Waiting."

While in Europe Dorothy will talk to Audrey Hepburn about playing opposite Frank in "The Lady Takes A Tramp." This is a story of a princess who marries an American musician. Dorothy also did the script of Cole Porter's "Can Can" which stars Frank.

Some more news about Sinatra is that he has signed Mitzi Gaynor to co-star with him. Bing Crosby and Dean Martin in his first television spectacular of the fall season, Oct. 19.

"The Big Circus" is making so merry at the boxoffice with the tinkle of coin coming in, that it's the second big grosser for Allied Artists. With this and "Al Capone" this small studio is very much in the black.

Irwin Allen, who made "The Big Circus" and turned out a winner, is planning a sequel with Rhonda Fleming again as the femme star. Irwin will have plenty of cash from "The Big Circus" which has already paid its costs and is headed for very healthy returns. These circus pictures are always money at the boxoffice. "The Greatest Show On Earth," the De Mille circus epic, is still making money.

Rhonda leaves Sept. 30 for Houston to sing on the City of Hope show. She comes back to be on Red Skelton's initial program.

Helen Menken tells me her phone is buzzing constantly since my item saying that she was jailed when "The Captive," the Broadway show, was closed.

"As a matter of fact none of us was jailed," says Helen. "The play was closed due to censorship. My, how times have changed. The subject of 'The Captive' is wide open in discussion today."

Helen says that last year she was given the woman of achievement award by the American Women's Assn. which has affiliated clubs all over the country. She is now president of the American Theatre Wing in New York and donates her services to school community plays and hospital shows. Helen is a friend of many years and one of the great actresses of the stage.

Joanne Dru telephoned from Majorca that although she's only in the middle of "the Girl in the Red Bikini," she flies to London from Spain over next week end. She goes to huddle with Ward McClintock about starring in his motion picture, "Too Late to Apologize." If this deal jells, and it looks as if it will, Joanne will be away from Lew Ayres still longer. Maybe absence will make the heart grow fonder, or maybe just the reverse.

MacDonald Carey is wise to take his vacations, even short ones, where he can find them because soon there will be no time off for Mac. Next week end he'll be with Betty and the six little "Macs" at Apple Valley taking it easy by the pool and on the golf links.

Then back to the jute mill to complete 39 chapters of his current TV series, "Lock-Up." Immediately after this, he's promised Irving Wallace to be in New York for a limited state engagement in Wallace's new play, "The Perfect State," which is later planned for a movie. Currently Mac is appearing around the country in the controversial "Blue Denim," playing the father.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye was easier and other grains steady today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅛ to up ⅛; corn off ¼ to up ¼; oats off ¼; new oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off ⅛ to ⅜; soybeans unchanged to up ½, and lard off ⅜ to up 3 points.

Monday's advance in wheat prices attracted profit-taking early today, but buying by mills and commission houses absorbed the offerings. Prices were little changed. Commercial houses sold some wheat, and spreaders sold March and bought September.

Corn was mostly steady with easy undertones. Trade was light. Elevators were on both sides of September, and some March corn was bought against sales of wheat. Spreaders bought September and sold December at 6 cents difference. Export subsidies were granted on 459,000 bushels of corn, 79,244 bushels of oats and 54,000 bushels of rye.

The oats trade was mixed. There was more liquidation by longs, and commission houses were buyers.

Soybeans were mostly easier. Commission houses were on both sides of the market. There was a demand for November at 211¾. Soybean by-products were also lower. Drummed lard futures were little changed.

Outside markets were mixed.

Keeping Up With Hollywood
by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — From Switzerland Frank Sinatra received the script of Dorothy Kingsley's story "The Lady Takes A Tramp," and he has agreed to star in it a year from now. Dorothy told him the idea before she went to Switzerland where she is working with Mel Ferrer on "Nine Coaches Waiting."

While in Europe Dorothy will talk to Audrey Hepburn about playing opposite Frank in "The Lady Takes A Tramp." This is a story of a princess who marries an American musician. Dorothy also did the script of Cole Porter's "Can Can" which stars Frank.

Some more news about Sinatra is that he has signed Mitzi Gaynor to co-star with him, Bing Crosby and Dean Martin in his first television spectacular of the fall season, Oct. 19.

"The Big Circus" is making so merry at the boxoffice with the tinkle of coin coming in, that it's the second big grosser for Allied Artists. With this and "Al Capone" this small studio is very much in the black.

Irwin Allen, who made "The Big Circus" and turned out a winner, is planning a sequel with Rhonda Fleming again as the femme star. Irwin will have plenty of cash from "The Big Circus" which has already paid its costs and is headed for very healthy returns. These circus pictures are always money at the boxoffice. "The Greatest Show On Earth," the De Mille circus epic, is still making money.

Rhonda leaves Sept. 30 for Houston to sing on the City of Hope show. She comes back to be on Red Skelton's initial program.

Helen Menken tells me her phone is buzzing constantly since my item saying that she was jailed when "The Captive," the Broadway show, was closed.

"As a matter of fact none of us was jailed," says Helen. "The play was closed due to censorship. My, how times have changed. The subject of 'The Captive' is wide open in discussion today."

Helen says that last year she was given the woman of achievement award by the American Women's Assn. which has affiliated clubs all over the country. She is now president of the American Theatre Wing in New York and donates her services to school community plays and hospital shows. Helen is a friend of many years and one of the great actresses of the stage.

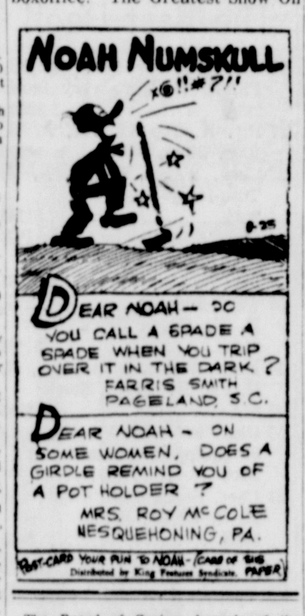

Joanne Dru telephoned from Majorca that although she's only in the middle of "the Girl in the Red Bikini," she flies to London from Spain over next week end.

She goes to huddle with Ward McClintock about starring in his motion picture, "Too Late to Apologize." If this deal jells, and it looks as if it will, Joanne will be away from Lew Ayres still longer. Maybe absence will make the heart grow fonder, or maybe just the reverse.

MacDonald Carey is wise to take his vacations, even short ones, where he can find them because soon there will be no time off for Mac. Next week end he'll be with Betty and the six little "Macs" at Apple Valley taking it easy by the pool and on the golf links.

Then back to the jute mill to complete 39 chapters of his current TV series, "Lock-Up." Immediately after this, he's promised Irving Wallace to be in New York for a limited state engagement in Wallace's new play, "The Perfect State," which is later planned for a movie. Currently Mac is appearing around the country in the controversial "Blue Denim," playing the father.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Rye was easier and other grains steady today on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ⅛ to up ⅛; corn off ¼ to up ¼; oats off ¼; new oats unchanged to up ⅛; rye off ⅛ to ⅜; soybeans unchanged to up ½, and lard off ⅜ to up 3 points.

Monday's advance in wheat prices attracted profit-taking early today, but buying by mills and commission houses absorbed the offerings. Prices were little changed. Commercial houses sold some wheat, and spreaders sold March and bought September.

Corn was mostly steady with easy undertones. Trade was light. Elevators were on both sides of September, and some March corn was bought against sales of wheat. Spreaders bought September and sold December at 6 cents difference. Export subsidies were granted on 459,000 bushels of corn, 79,244 bushels of oats and 54,000 bushels of rye.

The oats trade was mixed. There was more liquidation by longs, and commission houses were buyers.

Soybeans were mostly easier. Commission houses were on both sides of the market. There was a demand for November at 211¾. Soybean by-products were also lower. Drummed lard futures were little changed.

Yugoslavia was reported to have purchased 1,300,000 bushels of hard wheat.

Outside markets were mixed.

Are you too tired to be charming? Check today's tension warnings to see whether you need to relax!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Too Tired To Be Charming?

Leading authorities tell us that far more fatigue is due to tension than to working too hard. So if you are a victim of fatigue, today's most common complaint, how about testing yourself for tension?

Useless motions and futile gestures are warning signals that you are tensing up. Here are a few to watch for:

1. Do you drum your fingers in impatience on the luncheonette counter or on the bridge table?

2. Do you tap your foot while waiting for service in a store?

3. Do you find your hands clenched into fists as you wait for an important appointment?

4. Is your jaw clamped tight as you do an unpleasant task?

5. Do you see your reflection frowning from shop windows?

6. Do you start a new task before you finish the old one?

7. Do you hurry so that you make mistakes and have to go back over your work?

8. Do your back and neck take on a poker-like stiffness whenever you are forced to sit and wait?

9. Do you worry about things you can't change . . . or things that aren't worth worrying about?

10. Do you insist on sticking to a too-strict daily routine so every emergency throws you into a turmoil?

Each of the above is a red light that says, "Stop!" Stop trying so hard to live up to your idea of the ideal performance that you are exhausted at the end of the day. Allow yourself a little more flexibility. Remember a really good performance always appears effortless. Any great athlete you can name is an example of how to get the most out of every moment and how to make every movement count.

Eliminate the small, energy-consuming, unnecessary gestures and worries from your life. Remember easy does it! RELAX... and you will discover that you have a great wealth of unused energy left over at the end of any day!

Are you too tired to be charming? Check today's tension warnings to see whether you need to relax!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Too Tired To Be Charming?

Leading authorities tell us that far more fatigue is due to tension than to working too hard. So if you are a victim of fatigue, today's most common complaint, how about testing yourself for tension?

Useless motions and futile gestures are warning signals that you are tensing up. Here are a few to watch for:

1. Do you drum your fingers in impatience on the luncheonette counter or on the bridge table?

2. Do you tap your foot while waiting for service in a store?

3. Do you find your hands clenched into fists as you wait for an important appointment?

4. Is your jaw clamped tight as you do an unpleasant task?

5. Do you see your reflection frowning from shop windows?

6. Do you start a new task before you finish the old one?

7. Do you hurry so that you make mistakes and have to go back over your work?

8. Do your back and neck take on a poker-like stiffness whenever you are forced to sit and wait?

9. Do you worry about things you can't change . . . or things that aren't worth worrying about?

10. Do you insist on sticking to a too-strict daily routine so every emergency throws you into a turmoil?

Each of the above is a red light that says, "Stop!" Stop trying so hard to live up to your idea of the ideal performance that you are exhausted at the end of the day. Allow yourself a little more flexibility. Remember a really good performance always appears effortless. Any great athlete you can name is an example of how to get the most out of every moment and how to make every movement count.

Eliminate the small, energy-consuming, unnecessary gestures and worries from your life. Remember easy does it! RELAX... and you will discover that you have a great wealth of unused energy left over at the end of any day!

Man Is Killed By B&O Train

Body Of Robert Mills Found On Queen City Station Track

The victim was identified as Robert F. Mills of 210 Union Street, an employe of the B&O Bolt and Forge, who was furloughed from his job.

Authorities said the man's body was found after Train No. 12, the Ambassador, an eastbound passenger train, had pulled out of the station in the direction of Washington. The train had pulled into the station at 7:45 p. m. (EST) left the station 11 minutes later.

The man's body was found by two B&O employes who called an ambulance and notified authorities.

Dragged 60 Feet

Authorities said the man's body apparently had been dragged about 60 feet.

The deputy county medical examiner's office said the man's body was severed at the waist. An investigation is being continued by the examiner's office as well as by railroad police and city police.

No Witnesses

There were apparently no witnesses, according to police, who said the man had been furloughed and reportedly had been despondent for sometime.

They said he had been an employe of the railroad for 37 years. A native of Oakland, he was born on June 28, 1906, and is survived by a son, Robert Mills, 16.

Local police who were on the scene included Sgt. Clarence Roby, Detective Kenneth Morrissey and Officers Elmer Shank and Royce Clayton.

The body was taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

Will Dispute Ruling Appealed To High Court

Jury Threw Out Last Testament

A family dispute in which an Allegany County Circuit Court jury invalidated the will of an 82-year-old local man, drawn less than two months before he died, is now headed for the Maryland Court of Appeals.

John M. Robb and Peter J. Carpenti, as attorneys for John L. Arbogast, 104 South Street, filed notice in Circuit Court this week that they are appealing the decision of Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who overruled their motion for a judgment in favor of Mr. Arbogast notwithstanding the jury verdict against him and motion for a new trial.

The jury on June 4 made a decision which had the effect of throwing out the purported will of George L. Arbogast, drawn last December 12. Mr. Arbogast died February 6. The jury decided that undue influence was exercised in the execution of the December 12 will and that Mr. Arbogast was not of sound mind at the time.

"I believe that the testimony heretofore referred to is sufficient to carry the questions of undue influence and the mental capacity of Mr. Arbogast to the jury, and the jury having found for the caveators on both of these issues, I do not believe it would be an appropriate prerogative for the court under the circumstances to grant a new trial or a motion non obstante veredicto (in favor of the defendant despite the jury verdict).

"Were a court indifferent to the established basis upon which powers have been allocated between the court and jury and beguiled into rejection of every view which seemed to it less reasonable than its own, a violation of constitutional rights might well be said to have occurred," he concluded.

Coupled with the opinion was an order overruling the motions.

This action was brought by Mrs. Clara MacMillan, this city; Mrs. Virginia Finn, Chicago, Ill., and George Ross Arbogast, Monrovia, Calif., sisters and brother of John L. Arbogast. They were represented by attorneys Harry I. Stegmaier and Willis L. Wilson.

It was brought out in the trial that George L. Arbogast had drawn a will in July 1956 leaving his estate jointly to his four children. Under terms of the rejected December 12 will, John L. Arbogast, who was living with his father, was left the property at 104 South Street valued at about $10,000. The rest of the estate aside from the house was left jointly to the four children.

13 New Polio Cases Reported In West Virginia

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—State Health Director N. H. Dyer said Tuesday 13 new polio cases were reported last week to bring the total for the year in West Virginia to 49 compared to 50 for the corresponding period in 1958.

Dyer said eight of last week's cases were in Kanawha County and the same county has reported seven new cases so far this week. He said this brings the total to 29 for Kanawha County so far this year.

Dyer will hold a news conference Wednesday to discuss the rising number of polio cases in West Virginia.

United Fund Golden Gifts Drive Begins

'Kickoff' Dinner Scheduled Tonight

The Golden Gifts division of County United Fund will kick off its 1959 campaign tonight at 7 o'clock at the Cumberland Country Club in support of 31 health, welfare and youth services that cover the needs of 31 communities in Allegany and Mineral counties.

Lewis J. Ort, president of Maryland Mills, Inc., and William E. Crooks, manager of the Amcelle plant of the Celanese Corporation of America, are co-chairmen of the division, which annually nets nearly half of the CUF campaign goal.

The division has been well organized over the last several weeks and the co-chairmen urge all Golden Gifts workers to be present at tonight's meeting.

A "pleasant surprise" is promised in the form of a permanent memento of the 1959 campaign—in addition to the golden "U" emblem which has been presented to all donors of $100 or more in previous CUF drives.

Following the pattern set in previous years, it is expected that Golden U Club members tonight will contribute the first substantial sum to this year's goal of $338,781.50. It is the custom of all CUF representatives to make a substantial gift themselves before contacting other givers.

Although $100 makes a giver eligible for the Golden U Club, it is well established that this is not taken as a criterion of giving. Gifts range up to $7,000, with the average last year being $337.38—well over the average of $316.28 recorded for 1957.

The Golden Gifts division is the advance guard of the CUF general campaign, which will probably take place in October. Golden Gifts drives will also be conducted in the Keyser, Tri-Towns, Central Creek and Frostburg areas, and all will be concluded well in advance of the general campaign kickoff.

Orndorff so far during the month of August have amounted to $102,091.40, and considerable more is expected in the final days of the month, the last time taxpayers will be able to get a three per cent discount on their county taxes.

Next Monday, August 31, will be the final date for the discount. Checks and money orders postmarked before midnight August 31 will be allowed the three per cent discount.

As a result of June and July collections, Mr. Orndorff already has turned over $3,055,367.63 to Mrs. Johanna N. Sills, the county auditor. Of that amount $2,901,604.63 was collected in June, when the discount was five per cent, and $153,763 in July, a four per cent discount month.

Getty Answers Parsons' Plea

State's Attorney James S. Getty, yesterday filed a memorandum in Allegany County Circuit Court which contended that James Edward Parsons, now an inmate of the Maryland House of Correction, is not being illegally imprisoned, detained and restricted of his liberties.

Parsons filed a petition in Circuit Court here August 3 for proceedings under the Post Conviction Procedure Act. He contended that he was not given a fair and impartial trial last September 4 before Fred H. Anderson, then magistrate for juvenile causes.

He was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of three juveniles, two 16 years old and one 12 years old.

Judge Harris has appointed Harold E. Naughton as Parsons attorney and has requested Mr. Getty and Mr. Naughton to file memoranda on the case in order for him to determine whether a hearing should be held.

In his memorandum yesterday, the state's attorney said that Parsons was legally convicted of a crime, that the sentence was not excessive and that the defendant's rights under the Federal and State Constitutions were not violated.

Farmers Must Sign For Cropland Reserve Soon

Farmers who wish to put cropland in the Soil Bank's 1960 Conservation Reserve must ask the county ASC committee to set a basic annual rate per acre for the offered land, according to Bradye H. Dolly, chairman of the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The period for filing such requests started Monday and continues through September 10. No requests will be accepted after the deadline.

In setting the basic annual per-acre rate for land offered, the county committee will take into consideration the productivity of the land and the rate will be limited to the local fair rental value of the land based on the crops harvested from it during the past five years.

After the basic rate has been determined, the farmer may apply for a contract at any figure below the basic rate established for the land offered in the request for rates. If necessary, a priority system will be used to determine which offers are accepted.

Contracts under the Conservation Reserve may run for as long as 10 years. During the contract period, the farmer will receive an annual rental payment on the reserved land for the life of the contract and he also will receive cost-sharing help in establishing an approved conservation practice.

For Allegany County, the basic per-acre rate of payment under the 1960 Conservation Reserve is $14, the same as under the 1959 program. The tentative acreage goal for the state is 20,000 acres, subject to consideration and recommendation by the state ASC committee.

Train Hits Bus At Rockville; Traffic Delayed

Two crack B&O passenger trains were late arriving in Cumberland yesterday due to a crossing accident in Rockville in which one of the trains plowed through a stalled bus and cut it in half.

The B&O Metropolitan, bound from Washington to St. Louis, rammed into the bus.

The train usually arrives here at 11:25 a. m. (EST). However yesterday it was about two hours and 40 minutes late.

The other train, the Speedliner, No. 21, which arrives here at 12:23 p. m. en route to Pittsburgh, was about an hour late.

Because the bus was painted yellow, there was fear at first it was a school bus, but it turned out to be one owned by the Suburban Transit Company.

A conductor said:

"I just knew it had to be school children because it was a yellow bus and I couldn't stand the thought of seeing them all over the tracks. It took me five minutes to get off the train."

The train had left Washington a short time before and was traveling at 70 m.p.h.

The crash sent debris flying for over 500 yards and drenched the tracks with gasoline. The rear half of the bus was welded to the train engine and carried for 500 yards down the track. The front part was hurled about 40 yards.

Equity Suits Filed

Promotional Exams For Police Set

Applications Must Be In By Sept. 15

The Cumberland Covil Service Commission last night set up plans for examinations for chief of police, assistant chief of police, lieutenant and patrolman at the request of Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming.

Applications for the four positions will be accepted until 5 p. m. on September 15 by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery. The civil service group will meet at 7:30 p. m. that evening to go over the applications and to set up an examination date.

The commission, meeting last night in the city clerk's office at City Hall, fixed the minimum requirements for the four police department posts and declared the examinations for chief, assistant chief and lieutenant will be promotional and limited to qualified applicants in the employ of the Cumberland Police Department.

The exams for patrolmen will be open for all applicants, 21 to 35, with the equivalent of two years' high school education or three years' military police service.

All the examinations will be written.

Requirements Listed

The commission stated that the applicants for chief of police must be between 40 and 65 years of age; must pass a physical examination by the city physician; must have at least 10 years' recent police experience, five of which must have been served with the rank of sergeant or higher; must have held the rank of sergeant or better within three years of the date of the examination; must have a high school education which can be waived for any applicant with 15 or more years of continuous service in the Cumberland Police Department.

The assistant chief's eligibility requirements are similar to the chief of police except that he must have 10 years' recent police experience, holding the rank of sergeant or higher within five years prior to the examinations.

Applicants for lieutenant on the police force must be between the ages of 25 and 45; must pass the physical examination; must have at least five years' police experience in the Cumberland Police Department immediately prior to the examinations; and must have a high school education, which requirement can be waived for applicants with 10 or more years in the police department.

B. Frank Gaffney was appointed acting chief of police on May 19. John E. Sherry was named acting assistant chief on June 8, the same day Donald Smith was appointed acting lieutenant by Commissioner Fleming.

Commissioner Fleming wrote the Civil Service Commission asking that the necessary examinations for these positions be set up so that an eligible list could be formed.

Query Received

In other action last night the Civil Service Commission received a letter from Street Commissioner John J. Long asking if his department can hire assistant mechanics for the sewage disposal plant.

The commission requested Mr. Long to give a job description and duties of the assistant mechanics and minimum qualifications so that the civil service can classify the job or jobs. Tests then will be given to set up an eligibility list from which the mechanics may be hired.

Other routine acts included the filing of letters in connection with the furloughs of a number of city employes whose jobs were recently abolished by the Mayor and City Council. These men, however, will be placed on eligible lists for vacancies should the job classifications be reinstated, the commission said.

5,000 Maryland Veterans Train Under Korean GI Bill

Veterans planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill are being urged by F. E. Quinn, manager of the Baltimore regional office of the Veterans Administration, to follow a nine-point check list to avoid unnecessary delays and to guarantee "clear sailing."

With more than 5,000 veterans expected in training in Maryland this fall, the regional office is speeding the processing of all applications.

Following is Mr. Quinn's check list:

1. Since veterans are allowed only one change of course, they should give plenty of thought to their goals and the training program leading to the goals.

2. Veterans not sure of their training goals should, in their own interest, request VA vocational counseling.

3. Veterans should be certain their courses have been GI-approved by the state in which the school is located. Samuel J. Weston, officer-in-charge of the Cumberland VA office, Room 308, Post Office Building, will furnish information about approved courses.

4. Veterans should complete arrangements for admittance to their schools before filing applications with VA.

5. The application for GI training should be completely filled out and signed. It should be sent or taken along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper to the VA office in Cumberland or to the VA regional office in Baltimore.

6. The application should go to VA as soon as possible. This will enable VA to iron out any snags before school starts.

7. Veterans with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when the VA requests it. For a wife this would be a certified copy of the public record of marriage, which can be obtained from the clerk of the court which issued the license for the marriage, or a certified copy of the church record of the marriage; for a child a certified copy of the public record of birth, which can be obtained from the state health department of the state in which the child was born, or a certified

Body Of Robert Mills Found On Queen City Station Track

The severed body of a 53-year-old local man was found lying along the B&O tracks last night in the vicinity of the Queen City station.

The victim was identified as Robert F. Mills of 210 Union Street, an employe of the B&O Bolt and Forge, who was furloughed from his job.

Authorities said the man's body was found after Train No. 12, the Ambassador, an eastbound passenger train, had pulled out of the station in the direction of Washington. The train had pulled into the station at 7:45 p. m. (EST) left the station 11 minutes later.

The man's body was found by two B&O employes who called an ambulance and notified authorities.

Dragged 60 Feet

Authorities said the man's body apparently had been dragged about 60 feet.

The deputy county medical examiner's office said the man's body was severed at the waist. An investigation is being continued by the examiner's office as well as by railroad police and city police.

Mr. Mills' body was discovered on the third track from the station platform just east of the subway which leads to the third track.

No Witnesses

There were apparently no witnesses, according to police, who said the man had been furloughed and reportedly had been despondent for sometime.

They said he had been an employe of the railroad for 37 years. A native of Oakland, he was born on June 28, 1906, and is survived by a son, Robert Mills, 16.

Local police who were on the scene included Sgt. Clarence Roby, Detective Kenneth Morrissey and Officers Elmer Shank and Royce Clayton.

The body was taken to the Hafer Funeral Home.

Will Dispute Ruling Appealed To High Court

Jury Threw Out Last Testament

A family dispute in which an Allegany County Circuit Court jury invalidated the will of an 82-year-old local man, drawn less than two months before he died, is now headed for the Maryland Court of Appeals.

John M. Robb and Peter J. Carpenti, as attorneys for John L. Arbogast, 104 South Street, filed notice in Circuit Court this week that they are appealing the decision of Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris, who overruled their motion for a judgment in favor of Mr. Arbogast notwithstanding the jury verdict against him and motion for a new trial.

The jury on June 4 made a decision which had the effect of throwing out the purported will of George L. Arbogast, drawn last December 12. Mr. Arbogast died February 6. The jury decided that undue influence was exercised in the execution of the December 12 will and that Mr. Arbogast was not of sound mind at the time.

The defense attorneys subsequently moved for a judgment in favor of their client despite the jury verdict. Judge Harris filed an eight-page opinion July 28 overruling the motions.

His opinion said in part:

"I believe that the testimony heretofore referred to is sufficient to carry the questions of undue influence and the mental capacity of Mr. Arbogast to the jury, and the jury having found for the caveators on both of these issues, I do not believe it would be an appropriate prerogative for the court under the circumstances to grant a new trial or a motion non obstante veredicto (in favor of the defendant despite the jury verdict).

"Were a court indifferent to the established basis upon which powers have been allocated between the court and jury and beguiled into rejection of every view which seemed to it less reasonable than its own, a violation of constitutional rights might well be said to have occurred," he concluded.

Coupled with the opinion was an order overruling the motions.

This action was brought by Mrs. Clara MacMillan, this city; Mrs. Virginia Finn, Chicago, Ill., and George Ross Arbogast, Monrovia, Calif., sisters and brother of John L. Arbogast. They were represented by attorneys Harry I. Stegmaier and Willis L. Wilson.

It was brought out in the trial that George L. Arbogast had drawn a will in July 1956 leaving his estate jointly to his four children. Under terms of the rejected December 12 will, John L. Arbogast, who was living with his father, was left the property at 104 South Street valued at about $10,000. The rest of the estate aside from the house was left jointly to the four children.

Getty Answers Parsons' Plea

State's Attorney James S. Getty, yesterday filed a memorandum in Allegany County Circuit Court which contended that James Edward Parsons, now an inmate of the Maryland House of Correction, is not being illegally imprisoned, detained and restricted of his liberties.

Parsons filed a petition in Circuit Court here August 3 for proceedings under the Post Conviction Procedure Act. He contended that he was not given a fair and impartial trial last September 4 before Fred H. Anderson, then magistrate for juvenile causes.

He was sentenced to one year in the House of Correction on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of three juveniles, two 16 years old and one 12 years old.

Judge Harris has appointed Harold E. Naughton as Parsons attorney and has requested Mr. Getty and Mr. Naughton to file memoranda on the case in order for him to determine whether a hearing should be held.

In his memorandum yesterday, the state's attorney said that Parsons was legally convicted of a crime, that the sentence was not excessive and that the defendant's rights under the Federal and State Constitutions were not violated.

Farmers Must Sign For Cropland Reserve Soon

Farmers who wish to put cropland in the Soil Bank's 1960 Conservation Reserve must ask the county ASC committee to set a basic annual rate per acre for the offered land, according to Bradye H. Dolly, chairman of the Allegany County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

The period for filing such requests started Monday and continues through September 10. No requests will be accepted after the deadline.

In setting the basic annual per-acre rate for land offered, the county committee will take into consideration the productivity of the land and the rate will be limited to the local fair rental value of the land based on the crops harvested from it during the past five years.

After the basic rate has been determined, the farmer may apply for a contract at any figure below the basic rate established for the land offered in the request for rates. If necessary, a priority system will be used to determine which offers are accepted.

Contracts under the Conservation Reserve may run for as long as 10 years. During the contract period, the farmer will receive an annual rental payment on the reserved land for the life of the contract and he also will receive cost-sharing help in establishing an approved conservation practice.

For Allegany County, the basic per-acre rate of payment under the 1960 Conservation Reserve is $14, the same as under the 1959 program. The tentative acreage goal for the state is 20,000 acres, subject to consideration and recommendation by the state ASC committee.

Train Hits Bus At Rockville; Traffic Delayed

Two crack B&O passenger trains were late arriving in Cumberland yesterday due to a crossing accident in Rockville in which one of the trains plowed through a stalled bus and cut it in half.

The bus was empty. The driver, Joseph Heilmann Jr., 43, of Wheaton, leaped to safety, badly shaken but uninjured.

The B&O Metropolitan, bound from Washington to St. Louis, rammed into the bus.

The train usually arrives here at 11:25 a. m. (EST). However yesterday it was about two hours and 40 minutes late.

The other train, the Speedliner, No. 21, which arrives here at 12:23 p. m. en route to Pittsburgh, was about an hour late.

Because the bus was painted yellow, there was fear at first it was a school bus, but it turned out to be one owned by the Suburban Transit Company.

A conductor said:

"I just knew it had to be school children because it was a yellow bus and I couldn't stand the thought of seeing them all over the tracks. It took me five minutes to get off the train."

The train had left Washington a short time before and was traveling at 70 m.p.h.

The crash sent debris flying for over 500 yards and drenched the tracks with gasoline. The rear half of the bus was welded to the train engine and carried for 500 yards down the track. The front part was hurled about 40 yards.

Promotional Exams For Police Set

Applications Must Be In By Sept. 15

The Cumberland Covil Service Commission last night set up plans for examinations for chief of police, assistant chief of police, lieutenant and patrolman at the request of Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore F. Fleming.

Applications for the four positions will be accepted until 5 p. m. on September 15 by City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery. The civil service group will meet at 7:30 p. m. that evening to go over the applications and to set up an examination date.

The commission, meeting last night in the city clerk's office at City Hall, fixed the minimum requirements for the four police department posts and declared the examinations for chief, assistant chief and lieutenant will be promotional and limited to qualified applicants in the employ of the Cumberland Police Department.

The exams for patrolmen will be open for all applicants, 21 to 35, with the equivalent of two years' high school education or three years' military police service.

All the examinations will be written.

Requirements Listed

The commission stated that the applicants for chief of police must be between 40 and 65 years of age; must pass a physical examination by the city physician; must have at least 10 years' recent police experience, five of which must have been served with the rank of sergeant or higher; must have held the rank of sergeant or better within three years of the date of the examination; must have a high school education which can be waived for any applicant with 15 or more years of continuous service in the Cumberland Police Department.

The assistant chief's eligibility requirements are similar to the chief of police except that he must have 10 years' recent police experience, holding the rank of sergeant or higher within five years prior to the examinations.

Applicants for lieutenant on the police force must be between the ages of 25 and 45; must pass the physical examination; must have at least five years' police experience in the Cumberland Police Department immediately prior to the examinations; and must have a high school education, which requirement can be waived for applicants with 10 or more years in the police department.

B. Frank Gaffney was appointed acting chief of police on May 19. John E. Sherry was named acting assistant chief on June 8, the same day Donald Smith was appointed acting lieutenant by Commissioner Fleming.

Commissioner Fleming wrote the Civil Service Commission asking that the necessary examinations for these positions be set up so that an eligible list could be formed.

Query Received

In other action last night the Civil Service Commission received a letter from Street Commissioner John J. Long asking if his department can hire assistant mechanics for the sewage disposal plant.

In his letter Commissioner Long pointed out that one mechanic is maintaining the costly machinery at the sewage plant.

The commission requested Mr. Long to give a job description and duties of the assistant mechanics and minimum qualifications so that the civil service can classify the job or jobs. Tests then will be given to set up an eligibility list from which the mechanics may be hired.

Other routine acts included the filing of letters in connection with the furloughs of a number of city employes whose jobs were recently abolished by the Mayor and City Council. These men, however, will be placed on eligible lists for vacancies should the job classifications be reinstated, the commission said.

5,000 Maryland Veterans Train Under Korean GI Bill

Veterans planning to start school this fall under the Korean GI Bill are being urged by F. E. Quinn, manager of the Baltimore regional office of the Veterans Administration, to follow a nine-point check list to avoid unnecessary delays and to guarantee "clear sailing."

With more than 5,000 veterans expected in training in Maryland this fall, the regional office is speeding the processing of all applications.

Following is Mr. Quinn's check list:

1. Since veterans are allowed only one change of course, they should give plenty of thought to their goals and the training program leading to the goals.

2. Veterans not sure of their training goals should, in their own interest, request VA vocational counseling.

3. Veterans should be certain their courses have been GI-approved by the state in which the school is located. Samuel J. Weston, officer-in-charge of the Cumberland VA office, Room 308, Post Office Building, will furnish information about approved courses.

4. Veterans should complete arrangements for admittance to their schools before filing applications with VA.

5. The application for GI training should be completely filled out and signed. It should be sent or taken along with a photostat or certified copy of the veteran's separation paper to the VA office in Cumberland or to the VA regional office in Baltimore.

6. The application should go to VA as soon as possible. This will enable VA to iron out any snags before school starts.

7. Veterans with dependents should have the necessary proof of dependency ready when the VA requests it. For a wife this would be a certified copy of the public record of marriage, which can be obtained from the clerk of the court which issued the license for the marriage, or a certified copy of the church record of the marriage; for a child a certified copy of the public record of birth, which can be obtained from the state health department of the state in which the child was born, or a certified
